House Cuts Foreign Aid Bill $1.6 Billion

Russia Protests Iran's Acceptance Of U.S. Arms Aid

Moscow, Friday (AP)—Russia, in a stiff note, has protested Iran's acceptance of American military aid and warned that it works against good relations with Moscow.

The note was delivered by Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky to the Iranian ambassador here yesterday. It charged that by taking American military aid, Iran had violated the Soviet-Iranian treaty of 1921.

The Soviet note was published in all leading newspapers

It declared that "by this token the Iranian Army loses its character as a national army of an independent sovereign state" and said acceptance of the aid "is putting the Iranian Army under the control of the United States Government."

Russia accused Iran, her neighbor to the south, of co-operating with the U. S. "in the implementation of the latter's aggressive plans directed against the Soviet Union."

The treaty which the Soviet Union claims Iran violated contains a clause giving Russia a right to move troops into Iran if that country's soil is used by foreign military forces hostile to Russia.

The Soviet note of protest was delivered just four weeks after the U. S. resumed military aid to Iran. It had been cut off Jan. 14 when Iran refused to sign an agreement pledging to help increase "the defensive strength of the free world." Such a statement is required under terms of the U. S. Mutual Security Act.

Ridgway Tells Allies Red Charges Should Serve As Monumental Warning To West

Washington, (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway told Congress yesterday Communist charges that the Allies used gas and germ warfare in Korea should serve as a "monumental warning" of deadly danger to the free world.

In a voice harsh with scorn, Ridgway denounced the Communist propaganda trumpetings as "false in their entirety."

And without saying so explicitly, the four-star general clearly implied that the non-Communist world must be on guard against the Reds' technique of charging others with crimes they plan to commit.

Addressing a crowded joint meeting of the Senate and House—with the scene broadcast from coast to coast by television cameras—Ridgway told his listeners:

"The extent to which Communist leaders have gone in fabricating, disseminating and persistently pursuing these false charges should impress upon the brains of those who yet fail to refuse to see the purpose of Communism, the deadly danger with which it confronts us and the free world."

The former Far East commander, who led U. N. forces in turning the tide of battle at the height of the Chinese Communist offensive in Korea in the Winter of 1950-51, received a warm ovation as he entered the House chamber. He spoke from the same rostrum where his predecessor, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, delivered an historic farewell address to Congress a year ago.

Ridgway leaves Monday to succeed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as supreme Allied commander in Europe—a task which he told the lawmakers he approaches "with confidence higher than ever."

Naval Divers Find $30,000 Of NAS Loot

Warwick, R. I. (AP)—An estimated $30,000 of the $100,000 Quonset Point Naval Air Station holdup loot was fished out of the murky Pawtucket River yesterday.

Navy divers, working by direction of FBI agents, found the money as two West Warwick men, former employes of the station, went before U.S. commissioners in New York and Providence charged with the holdup.

One of the pair, Howard Hildebrandt, 25, married, was quoted by U.S. Atty. Martin Klein in New York as saying he spent $20,000 of the stolen funds. Police found $550 in his Times Square room. His lavish spending and attention to a New York night club singer had attracted FBI attention.

Klein also said Hildebrandt told him Robert R. La Plante, 27, an alleged accomplice, had not taken his $15,000 share of the loot.

The money belonged to the air station credit union. It was taken at gunpoint March 7 by two Halloween masked men as emplyoes drove up to the union office after having cashed a check at a Navy office.

Hildebrandt waived extradition to Rhode Island and was held in $25,000 bail.

In Providence, La Plante was held in $40,000 for a June 5 hearing.

Gloria H. Fazzina, 30, of Jersey City, N. J., the singer whose charms had proved alluring to Hildebrandt, was freed in her own custody to await being called as a witness. She is known professionally as Gloria Dale.

Scranton Placed On Priority List For TV Stations

Washington (AP) — Big cities now without a local television station will get first call in the processing of applications for new stations.

The Federal Communications Commission, which will begin processing applications July 1, issued its priority list yesterday.

Cities without local TV service were listed in order of population according to the 1950 census and that is the way the applications will be processed, the commission said.

Scranton, Pa., was one of the cities ruled eligible for both ultra high frequency and very high frequency channel assignments.

Living Costs Rise

Washington (AP) — The government reported yesterday the nation's living costs have just about climbed back to their all-time peak of last January.

Controversial Immigration Bill Passes

Washington, (AP)—The Senate last night passed a bitterly fought revision of the immigration laws which its chief sponsor, Sen. McCarran (D-Nev), defended as designed to safeguard the American way of life and which its critics denounced as harsh and unduly restrictive.

Passage came by voice vote. At the time, as during much of the two weeks of debate on the measure, there were only a few senators on the floor. The bill now goes to conference with the House, which approved a somewhat similar measure last month, 206 to 68.

The bill would retain the present quota system, based on national origins of the U.S. population in 1920, and would increase only slightly the number of immigrants eligible for admission to the U.S. each year. It also makes some revisions in the naturalization laws.

It would give preference to immigrants with skills needed in this country, would tighten security screening provisions and, while technically wiping out racial barriers to immigration, would limit strictly the numbers of Asians who may enter the country.

The bill's opponents, led by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) and Sen. Lehman (D-Lib-NY) have expressed hope that President Truman will veto it.

The measure would permit 154,657 immigrants to enter this country annually for permanent residence under quotas assigned to other nations. This is an increase of only 380 over existing law.

Allies Blast Third Base In Two Months

Seoul (AP) — Allied war planes yesterday smashed the third Red supply base in two months, leaving in flaming ruin a huge storage center near the North Korean capitol of Pyongyang.

The Fifth Air Force said the planes pressed home their all-out attack from dawn to dusk. By nightfall, pilots reported 117 buildings flattened and 85 more heavily damaged.

The Air Force had described the raid on Suan, 35 miles southeast of Pyongyang, as the heaviest of the war. It said the strike at Sinmak, 45 miles southeast of Pyongyang, used the most jellied gasoline fire bombs of any raid of the war.

After a flareup of fighting Wednesday, action fell off sharply on the front Thursday. The heaviest action was a raid by about 150 Chinese Reds on the Central Front. They were beaten back after a 35-minute fight, leaving 20 dead on the battlefield.

POWs Weakening

Koje Island (AP)—Communist inmates retained control within the 17 barbed wire enclosures of this big prisoner-of-war camp today, but were weakening under a firm show of force by battle-tried U. S. troops.

Russell Gains On Kefauver And Harriman

By The Associated Press

Georgia's Sen. Richard B. Russell picked up speed yesterday as a third-place contender in the nationwide race for delegates to the Democratic National Convention in July.

Russell got a big boost when North Carolina Democrats, meeting in state convention, endorsed him for the presidential nomination.

The state's 32-vote delegation will go to Chicago without any binding instructions on how to vote, but the formal endorsement plus the known leanings of delegates strongly indicated that Russell would get the lion's share.

Previously, Russell had trailed far back behind the front-running Sen. Estes Kefauver and foreign aid chief W. Averell Harriman.

Negotiations Recessed For Three Days

Munsan, Korea, Friday, (AP)—Allied and Red negotiators today agreed to a three-day recess in the Korean armistice talks after a no-progress session.

Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison Jr., the new chief Allied delegate, set the date for resumption of the talks after the Reds declined to establish the length of the recess.

He told correspondents after the meeting that the United Nations Command had taken the position for some time that daily meetings at Panmunjom were not needed unless the Reds offer something constructive instead of bitter denunciations.

For days the Reds have belabored Allied treatment of prisoners of war, using as a springboard the recent disturbances at the big Koje prison camp off Southeast Korea.

When the Reds asked him to name a date for the next meeting, Harrison picked May 27 because, he said, "I don't want to set it too far away because we want to get an armistice."

Methodists Fight Liquor Traffic

Harrisburg (AP) — Methodist churchmen pledged yesterday to renew their fight against what they termed the "liquor traffic" in Pennsylvania.

The Central Pennsylvania Conference of the Methodist Church adopted a report declaring that the traffic in beverage alcohol is "a wicked sin."

The report asserted that the "liquor traffic cannot be licensed without sin."

Youth Sentenced

Nuernberg, Germany (AP) — A U. S. Army court martial yesterday sentenced to death a 19-year-old American soldier for the highway murder of two Germans he said he killed because a buddy "egged me on." He was Pvt. John F. Vigneault of Guffs Falls, N. H.

Taft Forces Win Tentative Reduction

Washington (AP) — The House slashed $1,626,200,000 from President Truman's foreign aid program in a series of votes yesterday.

The decision meant that House supporters of Sen. Taft of Ohio had won a round in their fight for sizable reductions. Rep. Vorys (R-O), a Taft backer, led in the demand for cuts. Supporters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Taft's rival for the GOP presidential nomination, came out for smaller reductions.

The reductions are tentative, since they will be subject to roll-call votes when final action on the bill is taken. The House drove ahead into a night session on the big measure.

The President has asked for $7,900,000,000 to give direct military aid and economic assistance to countries aligned with the United States against the threat of Communist aggression.

By a standing vote of 163 to 114, the House approved a total cut of $797,200,000 from funds earmarked for economic aid to Europe.

A total of $1,819,200,000 has been requested by the administration for this purpose during the next fiscal year. The House Foreign Affairs Committee lopped off $181,900,000 and a second big cut of $615,300,000 was made on the floor.

Direct military aid to Europe was tentatively approved at the figure of $3,316,000,000. This was the amount recommended by the committee. It is $829,000,000 less than the President requested.

Rep. Davis (D-Ga) tried unsuccessfully to add one billion dollars to the cuts made by the committee. His proposal was turned down 157-117 on a standing vote.

Another motion to limit the floor cut to 300 million dollars was defeated by voice vote. It was offered by Rep. Fulton (R-Pa).

Rep. Vorys proposed the amendment cutting Eudopean economic aid a second time.

It was passed after administration forces had tried three times to adjourn and postpone a decision until today. Little more than half of the House was present, and most of the absentees were Democrats.

Five more times, the Democratic leadership moved to adjourn the House and five times the Republicans defeated the motion. Finally, in mid-evening, Republican Leader Martin called off the session, which had lasted 10 hours.

That meant that decision on several sections of the aid measure, and on the bill as a whole were put over until today or later.

TOTING EQUIPMENT UP the charred stairway at rear of 90 Washington St., East Stroudsburg, last night, firemen of Acme Hose Co. rip into burned pieces of the three-story frame building in search of hidden embers or concealed flame. The 11 p.m. fire caused heavy damage to three stores located on the first floor of the structure. Fire apparently started in the rear. (Daily Record Photo)

Truman Declares Nobody Can Deprive Him Of Seizure Power

Washington, (AP)—President Truman declared yesterday that nobody—neither Congress nor the courts—can take away from the President the power to seize industry in an emergency.

Yet he readily agreed that if the Supreme Court rules his steel industry seizure is illegal, he will promptly restore the plants to their private owners. He will turn the mills back and see what happens, he said.

He promised that the nation's railroads, having reached a wage settlement yesterday after 21 months in federal hands, will be returned to private management as quickly as papers can be signed.

Truman asserted his claim to inherent seizure power in the strongest terms he has used to date. He implied at his news conference that he would veto any act of Congress seeking to outlaw the seizure technique.

The President said he did not believe the questions of constitutionality were before the court, and he didn't expect the court to declare the seizure illegal.

The President has the power to seize, he stated, and they cannot take it away.

The President declared himself happy over the railroad settlement. He said he hoped that rail management and labor would abide in the future by the Railway Labor Act.

News conference questions the first 10 minutes dealt mainly with political affairs and many were dodged. They did produce from the President:

One — Assurance that the government's long-stalled clean-up drive will take care of itself once the new attorney general, James P. McGranery, is sworn in. He takes the oath Tuesday.

Two — A promise that he will say more, when the legislation reaches him for signature, about the bill to restore submerged tidelands and their oil wealth to the states. Already he has branded the legislation "robbery in broad daylight."

British Mail Robbers Busy

London (AP) — Robbers struck at British mail bags again yesterday even as Scotland Yard scoured the nation for new clues to Wednesday's 200,000-pound ($560,000) mail truck robbery.

Six parcel bags were ripped open in the mail coach of a London-to-Manchester passenger train and two other mail bags may have been stolen—bag and baggage.

There was no estimate of yesterday's loot. A similar mail train robbery nine days ago netted bandits 11,000 pounds ($30,800) in bank notes.

At least two other mail robberies have been pulled off in Britain in the past four months and worried postal authorities were reported seeking permission to arm their passengers with guns.

Seven masked bandits clubbed three unarmed guards in the truck robbery in London early Wednesday and escaped with the largest amount of loot from such an operation in British history. It was all in cash, soiled but still negotiable currency consigned to the Bank of England for destruction in pulping machines.

Acheson Leaves

Washington (AP)— President Truman sent Secretary of State Acheson off to France last night to complete arrangements for German rearmament. The President said the mission will make "a great contribution to the peace of the world—if it is successful."

North Carolina Girl Crowned National Spelling Champion

Washington, (AP)—Apple-cheeked, 13-year-old Doris Ann Hall of Hudson, N. C., yesterday correctly spelled "farraginous," "vignette" and 37 other toughies to win the 25th annual National Spelling Bee.

In second place—and the winner if it hadn't been for a pesky "r"—was tiny Marjorie Follart, 13, of Crafton, Pa., a girl with such a perfect photographic mind that she can spell either frontwards or backwards.

Doris Ann gave Marjorie an excellent chance to win. For Doris Ann spelled "cicerone" with a final "i." Under the contest rules, all Marjorie had to do was spell "cicerone" correctly, which she promptly did, and one other word.

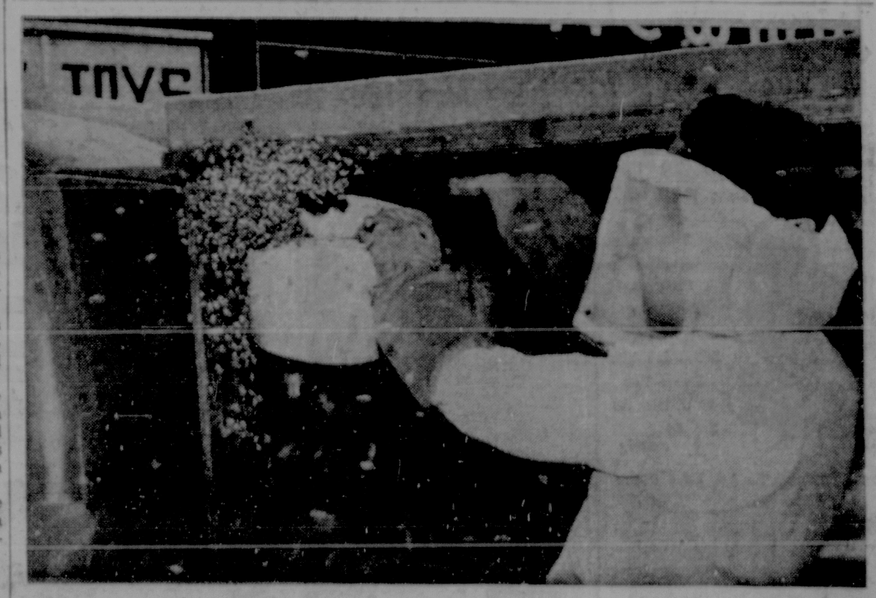

But that other word was "farraginous," the sort of word 13-year-olds use all the time. Marjorie left out an "r."

Whereupon the slow but steady spelling girl from North Carolina, given another chance, came through handsomely.

To the winner went $500 and a week-end trip to New York. To the runnerup went $300.

The third place $100 prize was picked up by Mary Ellen Rusk, 12, of Washington, D. C.

Boys have been pretty good at winning this thing, but yesterday the best they could do was fourth, taken by Gene Profant, 13, of Canton, Ohio.

SWARMING IN THE BODY of a plumber's truck owned by Dick Groner, this swarm of bees was recovered yesterday afternoon in the 700 block of Main St. by Tom Knepp, Stroudsburg High biology instructor, which brings to mind the first line of an old rhyme—"a swarm of bees in May is worth a load of hay". But they kept Plumber Groner from getting at an emergency job in a nearby building for an hour or so. (Daily Record Photo)

Rudy's Grill, Auto Store Hardest Hit

Some 25 patrons sat unknowing in Rudy's bar and grill, East Stroudsburg, last night while fire roared up the outside of the building 25 feet away.

It was about 11 p.m. First warning to the patrons was by an unidentified young girl who burst in the front door shouting that the back of building was on fire.

The patrons went quickly for the door, but there was no stampede. No one was injured. Last to leave was the bartender, James L. Helms.

Within minutes the place began to fill with smoke.

At the rear of the old Silverman building the flames fanned out and turned the frame extension at the rear of Speed Boys Auto Parts store, 94 Washington St. (adjoining Rudy's) into a holocaust.

The crimson sea threw out waves of such intense heat that a telephone and power pole a distance away smouldered and began burning at the top.

High tension wires burned or melted and snapped, creating a hazard to the Acme Hose Co. volunteers who flashed into action at the scene, and throwing telephone service into disorder throughout the immediate area.

The fire had gotten a head-start before it was discovered. The tongues of flame speared 25 and 30 feet above the third-story roof at the rear of the building and were easily visible from Washington St.

Police blocked off approach streets to the area. Stroudsburg Fire Co. sent two trucks to aid the battle.

Hose lines sprawled from hydrants as far away as the bank building.

It was the first major fire for Acme's Chief Jack Wyckoff since he was elected to the post.

Despite the start gained by the fire before the alarm was turned in, volunteers did a fast job of beating them down, reducing the blazing tinder-dry boards to charred, smoking skeletons.

The flames surged through the vacated Rudy's grill and turned the booths, bar, ceiling, floor, kitchen and lavatories to black crisps. Wearing smoke masks, volunteers ran a hose line in the front door and beat the fiery tongues back. Other streams were shot in from the rear.

Hundreds of spectators jammed Washington St., the parking space at rear of Rudy's, and the alley running alongside the building. A score of them got soaked as a heavy river of water from a fire-hose on the far side of the building shot briefly over the roof.

The flames had eaten into the rear of the Monroe Music Co., a record, jukebox and pinball machine establishment at 110 Washington—adjoining Speed Boys — and owned by G. B. Dalessio.

Extensive damage was caused to electrical supplies and equipment at the rear before the flames were drowned under firemen's hoses.

A false ceiling runs past the Music Co., the State liquor store (in which damage was small, according to preliminary reports) and to a warehouse behind the liquor store. The thick smoke ran along the false ceiling and poured into the warehouse.

It became so thick that firemen had to don smoke masks again to get into the warehouse to throw back the doors, air it out, and check for any possible sparks or embers.

Heaviest damage appeared to have been suffered by Speed Boys, managed by V. A. Eilenberger, and Rudy's, operated by Rudolph E. Manheim.

Truck and automobile tires were among the supplies reduced to embers at the rear extension.

No damage figures were available at the scene, but firemen said costs would run high for the business establishments.

Six apartments were housed on the second and third floors of the building, reportedly occupied by Manheim, Blanche I. Keiper, G. C. Staples, B. R. Dowell, D. W. Fox and Elsie Woodling.

All residents escaped from the building without injury. Fire damage appeared considerably lighter in the upstairs apartments than in the stores.

Paul Berner, 201 S. Crystal St., East Stroudsburg, an electrical contractor, was called to the rear of the building. Using heavy insulated clippers he gingerly severed the high tension wires tangled in the wreckage to remove the danger to firemen.

About an hour after firemen arrived, the battle had been reduced to a checking and cleaning-up job. Firemen began laddering the roof, at the rear, and ripping off the smoldering shingles and beams to get at them with the hoses.

The small fires still burning in the damp black mess—such as half-melted tires—were doused. Smoke exhaust equipment was put in operation at the warehouse.

Back in Rudy's . . . still hot and filled with acrid fumes, firemen had set up auxiliary lighting plants.

Stroudsburg Methodists Honor Pastor At Farewell

A farewell dinner in honor of Rev. and Mrs. Walter Johnston after a year of service with the Stroudsburg Methodist Church was held last night with 265 present for the covered dish supper and the program which followed.

William Prutzman presided at the program in which tribute to the Johnstons and the work they had accomplished was paid by John Wilson, superintendent of the Sunday School and lay leader of the church. He especially praised the work Mr. Johnston had done to help the Sunday School and the role of Mrs. Johnston in the church.

Mr. Prutzman, also paid tribute to Mr. Johnston "Our loss will be another church's great gain," he said, "and they will miss him at the hospital and in the community as well as in our own church."

Rev. Mr. Johnston in his reply said that he had come to work out the definite pattern of God and during the twelve months he had been here they had worked hard together. "It was working for God, not for the Johnstons," he said, and added that "The best way that you can show your love for us is to be loyal to the church and to your new minister."

Arlington Werkheiser also spoke briefly urging the congregation to uphold the new minister, Rev R. C. Stimson Sr.

The program also included selections by the Young People's Choir of 17 voices, with eight members of the sanctuary choir joining in other selections under the direction of Robert Hawlk. Mrs. William George and Mrs. Frank Werkheiser sang a duet with Mrs. Russell Pipher playing their accompaniment.

The program was closed with the presentation of a "love gift" to the Johnstons by Mr. Prutzman, and the individual good wishes of all those attending.

Church Seeks Release Of Captive Pastor

Several paramount recommendations were approved yesterday morning at Buck Hill Falls as the 205th annual convention of the Ministerium of Pennsylvania of the United Lutheran Church in America concluded activities.

Members endorsed a resolution asking the United Nations to aid in releasing a Lutheran missionary, Rev. Paul J. Mackensen, being held captive by the Chinese Communists. Rev. Mackensen was taken prisoner in March at Tsingtao, China.

They also approved a recommendation asking Rev. O. F. Nolde, of Philadelphia, State Department and UN delegate assigned to the Commission of Church on International Affairs to use his influence in aiding in the release of the captured missionary.

Representatives also were recorded as favoring institution of a coeducational system at Muhlenberg College, Allentown. The college, now supported by the Lutheran Ministerium, will be asked to form a feasible plan to accept women. In 1950 the board of trustees of the college stated it was inadvisable to have a coeducational program.

Convention delegates also opposed a recommendation asking the board of trustees at Susquehanna University, Selinsgrove, to present a plan under which they would accept additional women from the ministerium. Susquehanna is under jurisdiction of the Central Pennsylvania Synod and it was announced they will meet concurrently in Philadelphia next year with the Pennsylvania Synod.

At the Philadelphia parley 110 ministerial congregations will be asked to transfer to Central Pennsylvania Synod and 83 from Central Synod will be asked to join the Pennsylvania Synod.

Two Stroudsburg men were elected as lay delegates to attend the United Lutheran Church convention in Seattle, Wash., in October. Named were William Nixon and Howard L. Keiper, the former a delegate and Keiper, alternate. Rev. Asa S. Wohlsen, of Allentown, was named clerical alternate.

Serving on the committee on reference and counsel for the Buck Hill session were Rev. P. N. Wohlsen, D.D., and Superior Court Judge Chester Rhodes.

Rev. Emil E. Fischer, Philadelphia, president of the ministerium conducted the closing session.

Publisher Gives 45 Volumes Of Early Papers To Society

Forty-five volumes of early Monroe County newspapers, dating from 1844 to 1911, were presented to the Monroe County Historical Society as they met in the historical room Wednesday. James H. Ottaway, publisher of The Daily Record, gave the volumes. Dr. Leroy Koehler also presented the society with five volumes of the Jeffersonian, dated 1840 to 1859.

Earl F. Groner, chairman of the project committee, announced a marker has been placed on the grave of Rev. William Colbert, pioneer circuit rider and first resident pastor of the Stroudsburg Methodist Episcopal Church from 1827 to 1832. Rev. Colbert, husband of Elizabeth Stroud, is buried in the Old Stroudsburg Cemetery on Main St.

Tentative date of July 19 was set for the Summer meeting of the society and the program will be presented by Dr. C. Flagler, chairman of the literary committee.

It was suggested that a map showing the historical markers in the county be placed in the county library so Summer visitors may be informed.

Attending the meeting were Dr. Koehler, Mr. Groner, Roger Dunning, Mrs. Horace G. Walters, Edward DePuy, Mrs. Chester H. Rhodes, Mrs. Robert Haigh, Mrs. Edward H. Calkins Sr., Dr. Robert Brown, Mrs. Howard Eckert, Mrs. Elwood Grant, Mrs. Steward Shiffer, Dr. Nathan G. Meyer and Miriam R. Lark.

Bootleg Spuds

Not so long ago, the federal government had mountains of potatoes and couldn't get rid of them.

That was during the eight years when the government was buying potatoes from farmers—to keep the price up and encourage production.

We taxpayers bought and paid for 512 million bushels and paid out $542,500,000 for potatoes we didn't need and couldn't—under the rules—use.

We sprayed them with blue dye, ran tractors over them, poured gasoline on them and set them afire, tried to sell them to distilleries, sold them at token prices back to farmers—sometimes to the same farmer who raised them—for cattle feed or fertilizer. The sacks were worth more than the potatoes, and some smart operators made money throwing the potatoes away and selling the sacks.

Potato raisers responded nobly to this stimulus of government subsidies. But the system got to be such obvious nonsense that the support buying ended Jan. 1, 1951, and a lot of farmers turned to other crops.

Now the government is trying to keep the price of potatoes from going too high, with OPS ceiling prices. And the result is as bad, in its way, as the effort to keep the prices from going too low.

Potatoes are sold today in produce yards on a bootleg basis. You've got to know Joe, to get any, and you've got to pay under-the-table prices for potatoes.

Restaurant operators and grocers are talking about a potato boycott. Housewives are being urged to get their starch in other foods.

The story goes that when potatoes first came into use in this country, some people thought them poisonous and, therefore, organized the Society for the Prevention of Unwholesome Diet—hence the name SPUDS, for potatoes.

They're not unwholesome, but the way the federal government has tinkered with the good old law of supply and demand has certainly given us plenty of financial indigestion.

Tax Soaking Point

Those were significant figures made public the other day in a joint report of the Securities & Exchange Commission and the Federal Trade Commission.

The report shows that American manufacturing firms last year set a new sales record. They sold goods worth more than $212 billions—a gain of nearly 17 per cent over 1950.

It shows that profits—before taxes—were 12 per cent higher. But that profits—after taxes—were 12 per cent lower.

In other words, the more profits the less net.

It does not follow that this is the time to cut taxes, just because they are eating so heavily into profits. Taxes must come from income, and profits are income. The high cost of the defense program requires high taxes. There is no other way to pay for defense.

But the report does show how we are headed. When taxes tend to wring the incentive out of any business, they tend to cripple production and discourage expansion.

As long as the government's tax policies are based on an all-we-can-spend theory, they are in danger of reaching the soaking point—the point at which they begin to undermine.

These Days - - By George E. Sokolsky

Russia's Navy

The militarization of Soviet Russia commenced after the Battle of Stalingrad and was critically aided by American Lend-Lease, which amounted to about $11,000,000,000. After 1945, Soviet Russia did not demobilize its armies, or its war industries, as the United States did.

On the contrary, it entered upon an intensification of military preparation, in all phases, not only in Russia, but in all the satellite countries.

The result is that it is now estimated that Soviet Russia can throw a force of 225 divisions into Europe. It is admitted by our highest authorities that Soviet Russia's air force is at this moment superior to ours.

In the field of the atom bomb, we know inadequately what Russia's strength is. That Russia possesses the bomb and is stockpiling is accepted. It is assumed that the Russians and their German and other European associates are experimenting on the hydrogen bomb.

In the matter of steel production, the figures for Soviet Russia vary, but it might be accepted in the neighborhood of about 30,000,000 tons a year, or about one-third of our production.

Now we are informed that the Russians have built an enormous navy which is, at present, regarded as third to ours, with the prospect of bringing it to second place.

It is a fleet built for an offensive, which is natural, since there is no important Russian coastline to defend, except perhaps in the Black Sea, which we are not likely to be able to use. The object of the fleet is obviously to attack the coastal cities of Russia's enemies, particularly the United States.

Not being expert in such matters, I cannot judge the value of superior tonnage to a superior number of ships of less tonnage, nor can I discuss intelligently the advantage of a large number of aircraft carriers over interceptor ships.

Nor do I believe that such details are of importance to the non-expert layman. What does interest all of us is that the Russians possess 375 or more submarines, many of them of the snorkel type. Further we are being told that the Russians plan to build up to 1,000 submarines of the modern type.

The "U.S. News and World Report" describes the most modern improvement of submarines as follows:

" . . . (1) the snorkel device; (2) the closed-cycle submarine engine, which the Germans had developed by war's end to provide the motor with its own oxygen by using hydrogen peroxide, thus making it unnecessary for the submarine to come to the surface periodically for air, or even to expose its snorkel; and (3) the atomic-powered engine, which could give submarines unlimited range, high speed and ability to stay under water indefinitely."

It is believed that the Russians are able to build submarines with these improvements and that they possess types including the first two. This is a matter of critical importance to the United States if we are ever to find ourselves in a war with Russia.

Under the Czars and in the early years of the Soviets, the Russian fleet was wholly unimportant. In the Russo-Japanese War (1904-5), the Russian fleet was knocked out quickly and decisively by Admiral Togo. In World War I and World War II the Russian navy was of no significance whatsoever.

It is therefore astonishing that the Russians in a short period of, at most, 10 years, should have emerged to third place with the United States and Great Britain ahead. This represents not only a concentration on objectives but a capacity to carry out industrial programs far beyond expectations.

Should the Russian navy displace the British navy in second place, the peril would be great because the French navy is insignificant and the Japanese navy has been destroyed.

The question of war or peace has never yet depended upon equality of forces. Lesser nations have attacked greater nations when the periphery of power seemed to weaken or when the will to resist seemed to be lessened. Germany twice attacked Western Europe on the assumption that the will to resist had lessened, although the aggregate of force favored Western Europe. On both occasions, the United States entered the breach and saved Europe. Where do we stand now?

Try And Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

Baltimore's crowning social event every year is the Cotillion. Francis Beirne, in his new book, "The Amiable Baltimoreans," tells of one Cotillion just after the first World War that extended guest cards to two young out-of-towners. When they arrived, however, it was discovered that they were garbed in tuxedos instead of white-ties-and-tails, and the horrified doorman denied them admittance. The two young men were dismayed but not permanently thwarted. Their names were Henry R. Luce and Briton Hadden. A short time later they founded Time Magazine. And today what Cotillion queen would not jump at the chance to be glorified in Mr. Luce's other magazine, Life?

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington, May 22—President Truman's recent plea for the nomination of a so-called liberal Democrat at the party's national convention in July creates a mantle that fits snugly around the shoulders of Senator Paul H. Douglas.

It's not likely, however, that Mr. Truman will ever indorse the Illonois Democrat. He doesn't like Douglas, and vice-versa. Among myriad reasons is the impasse over the federal judgeship appointments in Illinois. The President ignored Douglas' recommendations of two highly qualified Illinois barristers in favor of a pair of political proteges.

The Senate backed Douglas, but the feud is still rotating in political philosophy. However, Douglas and Mr. Truman are much closer than either realizes. Both make pious preachments about economy in federal spending, but neither does anything noticeable to achieve it.

Douglas wrote a book recently hailed widely by the Liberals, "Economy in National Government." The title is tasty; so are his passages which call for a $1,800,000,000 cut in the civilian payroll, and a $5,8000,000,000 cut in military and foreign aid spending. And he wants to do it right now. He says:

"If the ratio of federal expenditures to national income were to increase at the same rate as in the last forty years, within a few decades these expenditures would swallow up the entire economy."

It has a familiar ring. Republicans in Congress—together with Harry Byrd, Walter George and other southern Democrats—have been chanting the same lament since the mid-thirties. But in 1951, when GOP Senator Dirksen of Illinois proposed that the NATO spending authorization be clipped by $5000,000,000, Douglas voted against it. The book contains another luscious passage: "To be liberal one does not have to be a wastrel."

This will come as something of a shock to the large flock of Democrats, plus a smattering of Republicans like Sen. Wayne Morse, of Oregon, who professionalize the "Liberal" label. Unlimited spending has always been their trademark. And yet Senator Douglas writes in his new volume:

"When such expenditures are even approximated, political and economic liberty, as we have known it, will tend to disappear. For if the overwhelming proportion of people would work either directly or indirectly or on contract for the State, men and women will be afraid to speak or act as free human beings lest they lose their livelihood."

In 1951, Douglas, against a heavily backed opposition, voted to increase funds for federal grantes to states to set up more local Public Health units. He also voted to increase funds for the voice of America from $63,000,000 to $85,000,000.

He voted against limiting new public housing units to one-half million a year, after the House had approved the limitation.

Douglas writes like a man running scared. He says that the "warfare world, not the welfare state, makes government expensive."

In 1951, Douglas voted against limiting the military budget to $55,000,000,000. This would have meant a $5,000,000,000 saving in the "warfare world."

Douglas writes well, and in fairness it must be stated that he sometimes votes for economy measures. At least he frequently submits economy amendments to spending bills. He says "If men are to be free, political and economic power must be diffused."

If he means it, and his voting record in the Senate will not withstand an analysis that he does, then Republicans in the Senate of the so-called conservative wing should arise as a man and salute a new member of the fraternity. I would advise caution, however. There are many spending votes to come before Congress leaves for the conventions in July.

My New York

—By Mel Heimer

New York—There was a time, in the immediate years before the second World War and even after that tragedy had begun, that the shrine of jazz music in America was the block-long strip of 52nd street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues. Now all that is gone, even though Wilbur de Paris' little band is playing at Jimmy Ryan's, as it was 10 years ago.

There still are a handful of jazz spots around Manhattan, but they are scattered here and there—in spite of which there still remains a street which, from the music engendered in only two places, rocks endlessly on Friday nights until it is time to buy the papers and go home with the dawn.

The street is lower Second avenue, deep in the heart of a tenement area that is being spruced up with each year but in the past produced its share of rough customers.

It is a street full of cheap little shops, earnest but small-scale merchants, delicatessens — and full of the rattle of foreign tongues and the strange, coldly fetid smell of heatless, rundown apartment buildings.

It is a street for the poor—the Broadway, or one of the Broadways, of downtown Manhattan. And to hear jazz—these days once again the plaything of the avant garde—rolling over its own riotous street noises, is a startling thing.

The jazz is played in two meeting halls called the Central Plaza and the Stuyvesant Casino. On other days they are used to stage weddings, but on Fridays they sell jazz—and, lately, on Sunday afternoons, too.

I have been to both, for the professional purpose of investigating a phenomenon and the personal purpose of listening to good jazz, and as I sat there with my pitcher of beer on the table, the feeling I got was of yesterday . . . of the ease and informality of an Odd Fellows' picnic in Hoboken, everybody talking to everybody else.

The ritual at these musty, friendly old halls is the Dixieland beat—a rattly, down-to-earth, hurry-along-boys form of jazz that usually catches the young in their high school or college days and serves as a primer for the more subtle forms of the art, like blues.

Logically, most of the patrons are young—and, a little illogically, many of them dance most of the night to the Dixieland beat, which is not an easy thing to do and doesn't always come out artistic.

To these joints of le jazz come most of the great men in the trade to play their pianos, trumpets or guitars. Some come because they are out of work and need the comparatively small dough they make; others rush here after finishing well-paying jobs in radio or uptown hotel orchestras, so they can figuratively brush the commercial corn out of their instruments with some hot notes.

Sidney Bechet, Wild Bill Davidson, Jack Teagarden, Wingy Manone, Big Chief Moore — to those on the inside, these are the names of gods, and they come to Central Plaza and Stuyvesant Casino to worship them.

A couple of music - shop proprietors set up the Central Plaza sessions; a young jazz impresario arranges the Stuyvesant clambakes. A man named , Bernard Birns, with his father, owns Central Plaza and he gives out these facts: There are two waiters for some 700 people, it costs each visitor a dollar and a quarter to enter, on an average night 50 chairs and a dozen tables are broken accidentally by wriggling, bouncing enthusiasts, and Birns decided one year not to hold a New Year's Eve concert because he was afraid the crowd likely would break everything in the place.

To the unitiated, these musical binges may smack of the orgiastic; actually, they're just wonderful—if just a bit affected—occasions on which the youth of our city (and surrounding suburbs) blow off some steam and rock for a while to happy music.

Jack Crystal, one of the promoters of the Central Plaza affairs, says that one group, the Jazz Appreciation Society of Schenectady—40 strong—hired a bus and drove seven hours to attend one session en masse. Actually, the C. P. operators have a mailing list of 20,000 jazz fans who are kept informed by postcard of just which top musicians are rattling the rafters any particular night.

'OLD WINE, NEW BOTTLE'

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

It is always interesting to know what we look like to foreigners or to people who have lived in other civilizations.

I don't mean those fly-by-day (or by-night) observers who come over here for a couple of weeks and then go home and write derogatory books about us.

Those folk think that all Americans are nightclub-frequenters or millionaries or both.

They see mostly the drunks, the gamblers ,the high-class bums, the ladies-of-the-evening, the playboys—and then they judge all America by what is really a vast minority.

No, I mean people like Chang Tsan-fan, whom I met in New York a few days ago.

I happened to be in the office of a New York book publisher with whose editor-in-chief I was discussing a book he asked me to write.

As I passed the editor's outer office I saw a beautiful Chinese girl sitting at a typewriter.

"She is my assistant," he said, "and she is one of the smartest girls I ever met."

"Do you mind if I interview her?" I asked.

"No, go ahead," he replied, "there's a good story in that girl."

So after we were through with our business, I sat down with Chang Tsan-fang, and we did a lot of talking.

She was born in New York City, the daughter of a Chinese-born mother and father. Her dad studied architecture in China and is now a professor of architecture at Columbia University.

When she was eight months old her parents took her back to Shanghai and they lived there until she was 15. Then they came back to America, but shortly before the Second World War they thought things were all right again in China and went home once more.

Then came the war and all its horrors. The Changs were forced to stay in China, but I will not tell you all the horrible experiences they had to go through. You must have read of similar ones by the hundred.

At any rate, Tsan-fang had graduated from St. John's College in Shanghai and, after the war, when they could leave China and come back to America—for good this time—she went to Barnard College where she got her B. A. degree and became a Phi Beta Kappa.

I am telling you all this just so that you may know that what a girl like that thinks of us is based on good judgment.

I asked her about American women as compared with those in China.

"If the American girls and women could only see what the Chinese women have to put up with," she said, "they would thank God that they are Americans.

"The American girls take all their privileges too much for granted. Everything from food to freedom comes to them naturally and without any doing of their own.

"I think that makes many of them just a little vain, a little conceited, a little overbearing, a little smug—a little catty,"

"And how about the men?" I inquired.

"Well, here the men live for their women," she replied. "In China the woman is practically the man's slave.

"And the women naturally take advantage of their—shall I call it charm?—and work the men for all they are worth."

"In other words, you don't think much of American men," I remarked.

"I am married to one," said Chang Tsan-fang.

Hollywood

Hollywood — Frank Ferguson has been acting in about 10 pictures a year for 12 years. Strangers often approach him with that where-have-we-met look.

Frank is one of the movies' hard-working character actors—doomed to anoymity in name but not in face. He was the architect at the drawing board next to Cary Grant's in "Room for One More," for example. Right now he's an internal revenuer in "It Grows on Trees." . . .

Cornel Wilde and his wife recently moved into a house where the previous tenant had a lot of pictures on the walls. "We were afraid the plaster would fall out if we pulled out the hooks," Cornel explained. So he's painted nine new pictures—"landscapes, seascapes, figures, in different styles so they don't look like the work of the same painter." Daytimes he fights the Nazis in "Danger Forward." . . .

Strangest sight on the sets of late has been Mel Ferrer as a puppeteer in a movie called "Lili," which has a carnival setting. A couple of professionals operate the marionettes from behind a curtain.

But Mel, providing all their dialogue in an organ-like range of falsetto voices offstage, also operates their mouths.

This he does by squeezing rubber bulbs—the kind on throat atomizers. They're connected by rubber tubes to the puppets' jaw mechanisms.

Karl Malden sent his supporting-actor Oscar, won in "Streetcar," to his wife Mona in New York City. "I told her to keep it on the refrigerator in the kitchen, look at it every morning — and give me a little respect as the man around the house when I get there," Malden said.

He's returning home when he finishes his role as a French Army officer (with one eye covered by a patch) in "Danger Forward."

Little Ann Blyth has more singing volume than I thought. Annie recently sang five songs before the Greater Los Angeles Press Club. When she turned away from the mike, to face part of her audience, she proved her voice is as strong as it is beautiful.

Letters For Special Delivery
To the Video and Radio Industries
Gents:

Why all the indignation and surprise over a Congressional inquiry into what's being pumped into the American home over the airwaves, especially in blueprints for criminal routines? You asked for it. By making it clear that your own loudly proclaimed code was just a gag and your professed concern for the kiddies all in fun, you boys practically insisted on outside interference. "Never give the battlers against juvenile delinquency an even break!" has seemed to be your operating slogan, especially on television. The American living rooms are knee deep in sawed-off shotguns, switch-blade knives, ropes, bludgeons, daggers, clutching hands, screams, police whistles, death agonies and the facial contortions of killer and victim. There ain't a code in a carload, bub.

A bad influence on the kids! Why, brother, they have reached a point where they are a bad influence on the grownups. Popper thinks nothing of chasing mommer with a hammer if his eggs are burnt; mommer hurls an ax at him if he won't help do the dishes. The other night we found grandma toying with a switch blade because the weather had been unpleasant. Aunt Agatha just wound up a tour of the eleven channels by asking where she could get some arsenic pills and a poison arrow to put a little zip into life.

Radio and video are wonderful, they bring happiness to millions. Nobody wants the politician taking over. But they have only themselves to blame if they get probed to a fare-thee-well. Dirty jokes, double entendre gags and the big leer are on the rise on the living-room screens. But it is the crime programs that have outraged the country. And it is the hypocrisy of video and radio executives in their annual issuance of codes that makes the fathers and mothers sore and a little sympathetic to Congressional probes.

The crime programs have doubled since your first code. The blueprinting of criminal routines is indefensible. As for my home the joint is jumping with garroters, mugging experts, slashers, gunmen, poison plotters and other scum of the earth all giving home and fireside a play-by-ply of Murder Incorporated. Even public officials and retired district attorneys are getting into the act for a fast buck. Haven't you noticed it? Take a look, and maybe you'll understand why trouble is threatened. Pardon my pointing. I just happen to be a guy who thinks the character of a child is worth protecting from the airwave biggies hell-bent for higher profits, and from the smug sponsors (most of them leading industrialists and family men of repute) who put a new sales record for a fruitcake, jelly, cigarete or a cold cream ahead of the small fry.

Excuse it please,

Elmer.

Taxes on cigarettes are so high that a commercial for some cigarete to which 100 doctors couldn't trace a single case of TAX IRRITATION would be welcomed . . . Mike Todd is putting Jones Beach on the map in such a big way he recently got a letter addressed to him as "Mike Jones, care of Todd Beach." . . . John Murray Anderson is a wonderman of the theater and has put the same touch of taste and beauty into "New Faces" that he has been a specialist in for a quarter of a century . . . The Ritz Brothers struck us as video wrestling with music . . . "Fracus" won at Belmont the other day and Shudda Haddim says, "I'm in the mutuel line tryin' to make up my mind on a last- minute selection . . . The guy in front of me gets into a hassel with the guy behind me . . . They start sluggin' . . . I try to separate 'em and get a shiner . . . And I don't get no hunch on Fracas until after the heat ! ! !"

"Into the composition of his dishes," continues Justice Frankfurter, "he adds so much of this or that element that will blend the whole into a compound delectable, or at any rate tolerable." Sprinkle liberally and stir from right to left?

ECHO LAKE—Eastern Poconos Resort Association last night staged its annual dinner at Werry's Sunnybrook Farm here with all regions of the Poconos represent. Shown here are Edward C. Cooperative Spirit Looking Ahead To Banner Season Marks Annual Eastern Poconos Banquet

Echo Lake—Eastern Pocono Resort Association last night gave the 1952 resort season in their region an inaugural marked by one of the largest attendances of any similar event staged by the association in years at Werry's Sunnybrook Farm here.

The ample Werry facilities were just as amply filled for the dinner and informal Eastern Poconos meeting conducted by William Altier, president of the association.

Resort operators from the region and many other sections of the Poconos were present to participate in the annual send-off for Summer phase of the resort business.

Joining the operators were scores of purveyors and their wives, who joined in an informal hour before a turkey dinner was served.

Mr. Altier, welcoming the members and guests, predicted one of the most successful resort seasons for the entire Poconos. He outlined briefly the promotional plans of the Eastern group, their collaboration with Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau on the information booth at Delaware Water Gap and the general cooperative spirit of the region, all beamed, he emphasized, at producing for the Poconos the best possible promotion.

Jack Shinn, operator of Echo Lake and new president of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau as well as a director of Eastern Poconos, said the Poconos as a whole remain the greatest single promotional objective of the resort operators.

Edward C. Jenkins, immediate past president of the Vacation Bureau, pointed to Mr. Shinn as a thoroughly capable leader of the destinies of the agencies whose single purpose is to make the Poconos the outstanding resort region of the world. Mr. Jenkins, warmly received by the group, pledged his continued cooperation and called for full support of Mr. Shinn's regime.

John Crandall, vice president of Vacation Bureau; Senator M. F. Crowe; Ray Irwin, who is affiliated with the Lackawanna Railroads promotional efforts in behalf of resorts and regional travel, Rep. John S. Shotwell, Van D. Yetter, and many others were presented. Each spoke briefly on the effectiveness of organized, unified effort in behalf of the Poconos.

D. A. Howe, Milford, president of the Pike County Association, announced his organization, created to promote Pike County Pocono Mountains interest, will hold its annual banquet June 3 at Log Cabin.

Mr. Howe held that the cooperative liaison which now exists in the Poconos, if nurtured by the individual activities of the respective interests involved, will bring about a great new era for the entire region.

Entertainment during the dinner came from the orchestra of Bernie Whitman of Stroudsburg.

A full show came after the meal and informal proceedings conducted by Mr. Altier.

It included Hawaiian dances by Meymo, all based on ancient Polynesian religious rites, one of the top interpreters of this type of dance. She has a background of performances in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, with Milton Berle, Sammy Kaye and Arthur Godfrey shows.

Don Olivero, noted for his singing in the Poconos and with opera companies, currently appearing at Charlie Theodore's Blue Ridge Inn, entertained with some light opera and popular songs.

Clem DeVinci and Andy Levindas of State Teachers College capped the program with comedy performance.

Helen Haynes, of Encore Farms, was arranger of entertainment and mistress of ceremonies.

Eighteen Models of Other Makes of Cars Cost More!

Official price lists show that there are eighteen different models of American motor cars, produced by five separate automotive manufacturers, which actually cost more than the lowest-priced Cadillac—when similarly equipped.

If you find this difficult to believe—then you're in good company!

For the record also shows that, during the past few years, literally hundreds of thousands of motorists have taken title to these costlier models. And there can be little doubt that many of them did so simply because they failed to realize how relatively modest the cost of a Cadillac can be.

They simply assumed that exclusive in quality means exclusive in price! And it is doubtful if a single misunderstanding ever cost so many motorists so much!

It cost them, first of all, the satisfaction of owning a Cadillac! For there is no substitute for the sense of pride and well-being that comes from owning a motor car that is universally recognized as the "Standard of the World."

It cost them, too, the pleasure of driving a Cadillac! And this, beyond any question, is the greatest penalty of all! For in missing out on the many thrills to be found behind its wheel—they're missing out on motoring's finest rewards.

And, of course, it also cost them Cadillac's many long-range economies—its almost unbelievable gasoline mileage, its unsurpassed dependability, and its legendary long life.

• • • •

We know that you wouldn't want to make such a costly mistake in the selection of your next car. But you'd better be careful—because there are eighteen different ways to make it!

So when the time comes—investigate! And if you pay the price of a Cadillac—be sure that you get one!

Spring Shoot Scheduled By Indians

Shawnee-On-Delaware—The Atlantic Indian Eastern Shooting Club will hold its annual Spring shoot over especially erected traps at Shawnee Inn and Country Club here May 23, 24 and 25.

This event, which annually brings together some of the finest trapshooters in the nation, will be held on the banks of the Delaware which runs past the inn property and at a spot that several hundred years ago was the scene of competition among the Shawnee and Delaware Indian tribes which inhabited the Delaware Valley at that time.

Mixed with the three days of competition will be colorful ceremonies depicting Indian tribal rites and customs.

Singles and doubles competition for both men and women will make up the competitive program. In the Fall shoot held here last year the Signal of Peace trophy, most coveted prize of the shoot, was won by A. L. White, Brooklyn, N. Y., with 92 out of a possible 100. In the squaw championship shoot Mrs. Ray Lanterman, of Morristown, N. J., won the Cornwell trophy with an 89.

The above winners as well as J. B. (Cappy) Grier, Wilmington, Del., singles champion, will be among the 150 or more gunners who will participate in the shoot.

Tax On For-Hire Trucks Attacked

Harrisburg, (AP)—A new state tax on for-hire trucks and bus lines was attacked yesterday as confiscatory with a claim it would put some truck firms out of business.

Shirk's Motor Express, Lancaster, attacked the constitutionality of the levy in a suit before the Dauphin County Court. Commonwealth attorneys defended the tax. The court reserved decision.

The new levy, estimated to produce 19 million dollars in two years, removed an exemption previously allowed those transportation utilities from payment of the state's eight mills gross receipts tax.

Community Oversubscribes Bobby Sayre Fund; Several Donations Yet To Be Added

The "Bobby Sayre Fund" went "over the top" yesterday.

Rev. Harold C. Eaton, pastor of East Stroudsburg Methodist Church and one of the coordinators of the drive, announced last night that the fund has collected $239 since it opened on Monday.

The amount collected is more than enough to pay for the hospital bill and cost of operation.

Bobby, whose seven years of courage and determination in the face of a series of potentially crippling diseases was described in a front page story in Monday's Daily Record, entered Mercy Hospital in Scranton the first of this week.

He was operated on Tuesday Morning at 8:30. His condition following the eye operation was reported "good" by the hospital.

Officials last night listed his condition as "very good." No complications had resulted from the operation, apparently.

Still to be added to the fund total are reported donations from employes of firms in Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg and individual contributions from clubs in various churches.

A check for $75 from a local service club will bring the amount to above $300.

Saturday afternoon's "carnival of fun" matinee from noon to 1 p.m. at the Grand Theatre in East Stroudsburg is also expected to bring in a large sum. Admission to the hour-long showing of cartoons and comedies will be by donation to the "Bobby Sayre fund."

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

The Business and Professional Woman's Club is the only one I know which has such a wealth of officer material that they can afford a double slate of officers. Now there's an election where a vote really counts.

In fact, the voting for one office resulted in a tie which had to be re-run. It was all very exciting though nobody made any campaign speeches.

Mr. Birdsall gave a speech, though, and I was particularly fascinated with his description of cooking with radar. Butter an ear of popcorn, put it in a bag in the radar range, and 30 seconds later you have a bag of popcorn, a lot of it still attached to the ear.

This instantaneous cooking would be right handy when you got home from playing golf at 5:30 with supper due promptly at 6. Though Glen Brook has offered to solve one problem for Ladies' Day—and that is to establish a nursery for the small children if enough of the women want to bring them.

Though maybe the women could attach one of these seats to their golf carts, copying the supermarkets, to take the children right along with them to learn the game early. Trouble is, by the time they're big enough to caddy, they've got engagements of their own.

If you want to make a really delicious stew be sure to brown the meat on all sides in a little fat before adding any liquid. Chopped onions may be added during the browning process, if you like. Add other vegetables to the stew just long enough before the meat is tender so they will not be overdone.

Around The Stroudsburgs

Sterling M. Scheller, a former resident, has returned to his home in Miami, Fla., after spending several days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Scheller, of 70 South Courtland St., East Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Charles Jennings, of 85d Thomas St., Stroudsburg, is now in the Jefferson Hospital where she was operated upon Wednesday.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: The desk in the next office is covered at this moment with some of the handsomest top coat and suiting materials I've seen in many a day, and the grapevine has it that these will be on sale here before long. Several of the executives, I understand, have already ordered sport coats. I pass it along as a tip to keep your eye on your ever-alert Men's department . . . Wonder if I mentioned that two familiar faces have disappeared from the Wyckoff roster within the past week? Kitty Miller left advertising to become associated with the Welcome Wagon, and Floyd L. Wilmoth, comptroller, has established his own business. Moreover, Betty Fisher of our gift department, tells me she intends to settle down to a quiet life at home after May 31st. Missing is Betty Frantz of the display department, who reports by card to Fran Meredith and Baron Rinehart that she's having a wonderful vacation in Chattanooga . . . It seemed Wednesday that we wouldn't have a Telephone Game winner on our Wyckoff Shopper broadcast. Mrs. Clarence Henry's telephone number had been changed, and before the new one could be learned, the music stopped playing. However, Mrs. Henry heard the announcement, called the store and claimed her gift certificate. Lucky she! If I had a Wyckoff gift certificate . . . or if money grew on trees and I owned a forest, know what I'd have? I'd have a pair of soft kidskin California Cobblers in red, from our shoe department; a sterling silver bracelet set with turquoise, from our jewelry department; a perky white hat from either the hat bar or second floor millinery; one of Edith Pennington's wonderfully romantic nylon print robes at $8.98 or matching brunch coats at $6.98, and a sleeveless cotton blouse in each one of the bon-bon pret colors now brightening our Sportswear display. The newest of our PBs, these blouses sell at $3.98 and are worth it . . . Today's mail brought an order for four and a half yards of purple cotton fleeked with gold from a Scranton customer. Seems to me that fabrics get more interesting with every passing year . . . Our switchboard operator's reading Emily Post's Blue Book in her spare time in preparation for a wedding at which she'll be maid of honor. Emily Post's book always has a steady sale, and can always be obtained through Wyckoff's. Personally, I'm more interested in Elizabeth Gray Vining's account of her experiences as teacher of Japan's future emperor, told in her book, "Windows for the Crown Prince." Why don't you "Window" shop? At Wyckoff's.

Trout Carry Tags On Fins

Keene, N. H. (AP)—A local angler owed an Illinois man a bread and butter letter yesterday for three trout he caught in a Westmoreland stream.

As Henry Holman prepared the fish for the skillet, he noticed tags on their fins, which bore the following information:

"Released for your enjoyment by Sherman R. Barnett, 400 Grove St., Glencoe, Ill."

Holman wonders how they arrived in Partridge Brook, a tributary of the Connecticut River.

East Bangor Scores Twice In Seventh To Nip Pocono A. C.

Unearned Runs Feature Tight Pitching Battle

Pocono A. C. went down to its second straight Blue Mountain League defeat of the young season yesterday, when East Bangor tallied two times in the top of the seventh to capture a 4-2 twilight thriller at Gordon Giffels field, after the arch rivals had entered the final round deadlocked at 2-all.

Unearned runs featured a tight pitching duel between Chet Lucki and Ray Parsons, as four of the six runs scored in the ball game were of the unearned variety.

East Bangor lost little time in accounting for the only two earned counters of the battle when Bob Fisher opened the game with a double to left and went to third on a single by Frank Stanczak, after Dick Goodhard had been retired on strikes.

Duaine "Chip" Parsons grounded out to Dick Schaller at first, Stanczak moving to second, but Fisher was forced to hold at third. However, Mace Barnhardt, who played a brilliant defensive game in left field, came through with a ringing single to drive both runners across the plate.

Lucki and Parsons, the latter serving up an assortment of slow stuff, matched pitch for pitch until the fifth, when the A. C. charges of Manager John Schoonover accounted for two unearned tallies.

Single

Don Sweda was credited with a single through first and raced to second on John Drew's single. However, Ray Parsons attempted to pick Drew off first, but instead threw the ball into right field, Sweda scoring on the play. Duaine Parsons threw wildly past home plate on the relay and Drew also crossed the dish to tie the count.

The two rivals remained deadlocked until the seventh, when East Bangor took its turn at scoring unearned runs.

Ray Parsons opened with a single and was sacrificed to second by Pat Kempsey. Don Arcury walked, but Fisher went down on strikes for the second out. Goodhard walked, but Werkheiser was unable to field Stanczak's roller at short and two visiting runners raced home on the error.

Pocono A.C. accounted for nine hits off Ray Parsons, while East Bangor could solve Lucki's slants for only four—three in the first inning and one in the last.

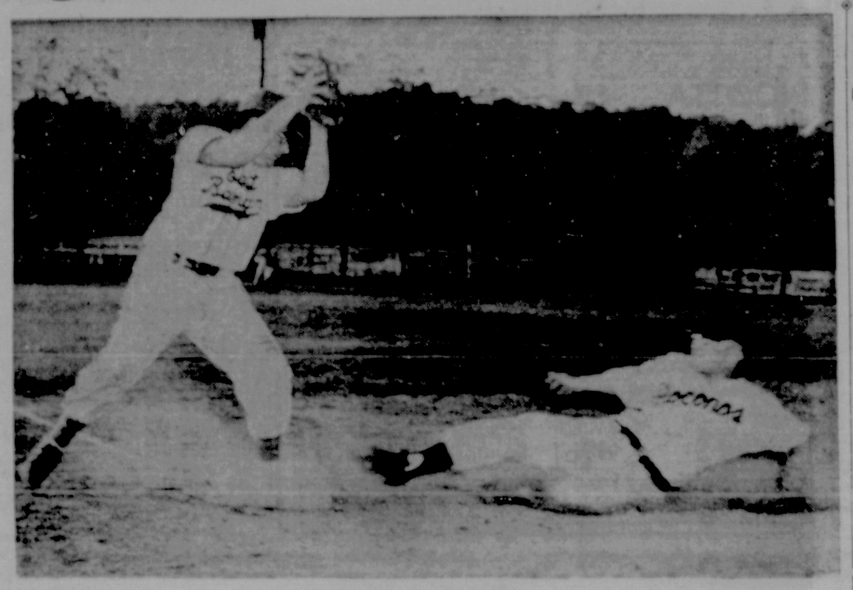

The A.C. contingent plays two more straight home games, meeting Johnsonville at Giffels field on Sunday and Portland the following Tuesday.

Pen Argyl Uses Big Innings To Turn Tide Against Bangor

Bangor—Pen Argyl, king of the Lehigh-Northampton League for 1952, proved yesterday that last week's victory over Bangor High was no fluke by scoring an 8-1 decision over the same club, here at Memorial Park.

The outcome of the game was never in doubt after the visiting Pen Argyl contingent reached Sherman Schoonover for three runs in the second round, before Bob Egbert could come to the rescue.

However, Pen Argyl teed off on Egbert for a quartet of tallies in the fourth and then added a good-measure run in the top of the ninth.

Escapes Shutout

Bangor escaped a shutout in the bottom of the ninth and final inning by pushing one run into pay dirt.

Jim Miller lashed out the big blow in a winning cause, when the hard hitting first baseman hit for the circuit.

Bangor was held to four hits by Vern Shaplin and Tom Bellis, while Pen Argyl accounted for 12 safeties off two Bangor hurlers.

Senator Swings At Baseball

Washington (AP) — Rep. Hillings (R-Calif) charged that yesterday, that organized baseball is monopolistic because it hasn't pushed major league operations west of the Mississippi River.

The Californian issued a statement saying the "geographical unbalance" of the major prompted House judiciary subcommittee's action in refusing to okay bills exempting baseball from anti-monopoly legislation.

A similar expression came from Chairman Celler (D-NY) who added that he was referring not only to the lack of major league baseball on the West Coast but also in other sections deserving of top performances.

Denver Becomes Soccer Hotspot

Denver, (AP)—The European game of soccer seems to be getting a toehold in Denver, one of the top minor league baseball towns in the country and once a hotbed for AAU basketball.

About 2,000 persons, a huge crowd for soccer in this section, turned out when Colorado School of Mines won the state soccer title by beating the Denver Maccabi Sports Club, 2-1.

Displaced

The Maccabi team is made up chiefly of displaced persons from Europe, most of them working at a Denver chemical plant.

After the game, the association announced that Colorado will have two soccer league next season. One will be an intercollegiate circuit with teams from Denver, Colorado, Colorado Mines, Colorado College, Colorado A&M, and Regis College of Denver. The other will be a Sunday industrial league of six to eight teams.

Indians High On Fridley

Cleveland (AP) — The Cleveland Indians are high on Jim Fridley, a 26-year-old rookie they had at Tucson this spring. The native of Philippi, W. Va., hit .299 at Dallas last season, his fourth in organized ball. The Indians signed him when he wandered into old League Park here for a tryout back in 1948.

Reserve Law Wins Qualified Approval

By Harry P. Snyder

Washington (AP) — Organized baseball's controversial reserve law received qualified approval yesterday as a House Judiciary Committee told the game's rulers to solve their own anti-trust problems.

Although it killed three bills which would have exempted the professional game from the nation's law against monopolies, the congressional sub-committee, headed by Emanuel Celler (D-NY) held that baseball needed some sort of a reserve clause.

Provision

The reserve clause is the provision in player contracts which gives to the club that first signs a player the continuing and exclusive right to his services.

The conclusions came after a 10-month study of the technical, legal and behind-the-scenes operation of major, minor and bush league baseball.

The sub-committee also rejected the idea to pass favorable legislation designed to give baseball an unlimited exemption from anti-trust laws. It also vetoed the suggestions that a federal agency be created to regulate professional baseball or to enact a bill limiting the reserve clause.

"Accordingly," the report concluded, "the sub-committee has determined to adopt the fifth of the alternatives, namely, to recommend no legislative action at this time."

Although the committee report was lavish in its praise of baseball and "its outstanding record of honesty and integrity," it said the sport "has for years occupied a monopoly position."

But it also held that "some form" of reserve clause is needed if the professionals are to operate profitably.

Statement

"The laws of supply and demand are not the inexorable masters of this market place," the report said. "Competition from other amusement industries, though not without influence, is comparatively ineffective."

The lawmakers held that public opinion serves as something of a governor on the sport but "does not afford a complete guaranty that the game will always be operated so as to serve the maximum public interest."

"Even when the public has recognized the need for important and affirmative changes in industry policies, the men in control of the game have either resisted or been unable to make desirable changes," it said.

Service Surveys Crop Prospects

Harrisburg, (AP)—Operation "Postcard Survey" is under way by the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service to find out farmer plans for livestock and crop production this year.

The service started distributing 21,000 postcards this week, polling farmers on their production plans.

The cards ask questions about production plans for all livestock, as well as poultry and milk.

The results will give the service an idea of future supplies of pork, milk, lamb, wool and poultry.

Large Area Represented

Langhorne—The entire Eastern seaboard will be well represented in the 100-mile National Championship, for modified stock cars, scheduled for the famed Langhorne Speedway — situated along U.S. Highway Number One, Philadelphia and Trenton—Memorial Day. With more than seventy entered and the starting field limited to fifty, the time trials take on added importance. Beginning at 10 a.m., each car will be required to solo the world's fastest mile and the starting position in the afternoon century grind will be awarded according to time registered.

Stroudsburg Trips Eastburg In Softball

Stroudsburg scored two runs in the bottom of the eighth inning to take the measure of East Stroudsburg yesterday, 9-8. However, it was only a softball game that featured the cream of the Intra-Mural League crops from both schools. The game was played at Stroudsburg Playground.

East Stroudsburg scored a single run in the top of the eighth inning, which was brought about when the count was deadlocked at 7-7 at the end of regulation play, and went into the home half of the extra frame with a one-run edge.

Payoff

However, Stroudsburg, with one out, scored two times to bring home the bacon in the extra frame.

East Stroudsburg enjoyed a five-run spurt in the third for its big inning, but Stroudsburg used smaller spurts to bring home the bacon.

The big blow of the game was a home run by East Stroudsburg's Smith, in the big third, with the bases loaded.

Fellow Pros Pick Hogan

Dallas, (AP)—The man who should know says that Ben Hogan will win the USGA Open Championship again.

The verbal backing is from Raymond Gafford, professional at Northwood Club where the Open will be played June 12-14.

"The little man will be out to win this one, and he'll do it," says Gafford. "You just can't sell Ben short. There are several good reasons to pick him.

In the first place, Hogan has won the national title three times and he's the defending champion. That's incentive enough.

Statement

"Couple that with Hogan's ability to fit his game to any course and you have a combination hard to beat.

"The fairways here at Northwood are long and quite narrow. Accuracy will be a primary requirement. And accuracy is Hogan's strongest point."

Another factor spurring Hogan is his chance to tie the record of four victories jointly held by Willie Anderson and Bobby Jones. Anderson won the title in 1901, 1903, 1904 and 1905. Robert T. Jones, Jr., captured the Open in 1923, '26, '29 and '30.

Little League Forms Women's Auxiliary In East Stroudsburg

East Stroudsburg's Little League organized a women's auxiliary last night, at a special Little League program held at the East Stroudsburg Junior High school.

Mrs. Frank W. Reusswig, of 137 Ridgeway St., East Stroudsburg, was named president of the newly formed organization.

It was announced that the ladies would hold a special meeting later to organize fully, at which time additional officers will be elected.

A total of 350 people were on hand at last night's meeting, which featured a movie on eliminations and the 1951 Little League World Series at Williamsport, and the recording of Carl E. Stotz's speech last Saturday was also played for the gathering.

Stotz is the founder of Little League baseball.

The history of Little League baseball was traced and the program in East Stroudsburg was discussed.

Past history of the E. Stroudsburg Little League was presented to the people and future plans for the growing organization were also released to the large attendance.

The entire East Stroudsburg Little League field project was also brought up for discussion.

Roseto Rallies In Seventh To Edge West Bangor, 6-5

Roseto—Three walks and a single, with only one out in the bottom of the seventh yesterday, enabled Roseto to gain a 6-5 verdict over West Bangor, here on the winning team's home diamond. It was the first victory of the campaign for Roseto, who has dropped two contests.

West Bangor's current record is no wins and three setbacks.

Big Inning

Roseto opened the game with four runs in the first frame, but West Bangor came back to pound Dick Pritchard, Tom Foley and Mark Nejako for two tallies in the third, one in the fourth and two more in the top half of the fifth round.

However, the Roseto contingent rallied in the home half of the seventh and final inning to insure victory.

Lyle Krall homered for Roseto and Pezzuto also hit for the circuit for West Bangor.

M. Smithfield Falls Before Clearview, 9-8

Clearview scored a single run in the bottom of the eighth inning to edge Middle Smithfield school in a softball game on Wednesday, 9-8, on the winning club's home grounds.

The Middle Smithfield contingent evened the score at 8-all with a seven-run explosion in the seventh round, after the home team had led up until that time by an 8-1 count.

Damage

Clearview did the bulk of its damage in the first inning, when the home contingent came up with five counters.

Except for the big innings, all the other runs came one at a time.

Middle Smithfield had the better of the hitting, 8-5, but five errors proved fatal to the visiting club.

Added To Field

Trenton, N. J.—Additional Indianapolis "500" prestige was injected into Sunday's "AAA" auto races at the New Jersey State Fairgrounds with the official signing of Jim Bryan, Phoenix, Ariz., speedster.

Bryan, who is slated to drive a car owned by the Leitenberger Brothers, Johnstown, Pa., at Indianapolis on Memorial Day, has forwarded his signed entry for Sunday to race headquarters here. He will pilot a sprint Offenhauser owned by the Leitenbergers, his entry disclosed.

Pitcher Drawing Attention

Bristol, Tenn., (AP)—Just how good is Ron Neccial, the fabulous strikeout king of the Bristol Twins?

The Pittsburgh Pirates, who own him, and all baseball would like to know.

Record

Neccial pronounced Netch-Eye has struck out 109 batters in 42 and two-thirds innings in winning four straight games for Bristol of the Class D. Appalachian League.

The answer probably will not come until 19-year-old "Rocket Ron" operates in a league where the batters have seen blinding speed and good curves before.

The former Monongahela, Pa., sandlotter leaped into baseball's limelight May 13 when he tossed a 27-strikeout, 7-0 no-hitter against Welch, W. Va.

Pittsburgh officials, badly in need of a pitcher who can win, dispatched Branch Rickey Jr., son of the Pirates' general manager, here last night to watch Neccial work against Kingsport, Tenn., on "Ron Neccial night."

The modest youth left young Rickey and 5,235 doting Bristol fans bugeyed with an incredible performance in which he fanned 24 batters for a 7-1 victory. He allowed only two hits, a single in the first inning and a double in the third.

Trainer Discovered Charles Dozen Years Ago

Pleasantville, N. J. (AP)—Twelve years ago Ray Arcel walked into the Pioneer Gym in New York after a month in the Maine Woods training Lou Nova for a fight with heavyweight champ champion Joe Louis.

As photographers took pictures of Nova and reporters questioned Louis' "victim of the month," Arcel noticed a young Negro middleweight punching the daylights out of heavyweight Red Berman.

"Who is that youngster," Arcel asked a friend.

Reply

"Oh, he's some amateur from Cincinnati," replied the friend.

"He's no amateur," commented Arcel. "He's a hell of a boxer."

"Of course, I didn't know it then, but I didn't have a chance with Nova against Louis.

But that middleweight over in the corner someday would lick Louis and I'd help train him for the job."

The young middleweight is Ezzard Charles of course, who Arcel is training today in an effort to make boxing history.

"There is no doubt in my mind," said Arcel, "and I'll stake my reputation on it, that Charles will be the first ex-heavyweight champion ever to win back the title. He'll lick "Jersey Joe" Walcott in Philadelphia June 5, and may knock the champ out."

Eagles, Ronson Capture Softball League Verdicts

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Ray Steele wound up probably the greatest high school pitching career in the history of baseball in Monroe County on Wednesday, when the free throwing right-hander hurled East Stroudsburg High to a 2-1 victory over Wilson Borough, at the East Stroudsburg Playground. In stopping a strong Wilson club, Steele gave up only one hit, fanned 19 and walked a total of five batters. In four of the innings the likeable Steele retired the side on strikes.

Pike County's gift to the baseball world wound up the season with 61 strikeouts in 27 innings, or an average of more than two an inning during the last three games. Ray's season total of 138 strikeouts in 70 innings, is just a shade less than two strikeouts per frame, while the lanky right-hander won six and dropped two decisions. Steele walked 33 batters in the same 70 innings, allowed 27 hits and gave up 20 runs, while hitting two batsmen and letting loose with one wild pitch.

It is little wonder that virtually every major league club has had its ivory hunters following Steele like an FBI agent on the trail of a wanted criminal. Although Steel's future is believed to be baseball, many colleges have tempted the lanky youngster with a basketball scholarship. Even while playing basketball, where he was given honorable mention on the all-Pennsylvania scholastic team by the Associated Press, the diamond scouts were on hand to take notes on his behavior, his will to win and the dozen and one other things that diamond talent scouts search for.

Ray, who by the way averaged better than 20 points a game in basketball, wound up his scholastic diamond career by giving up only two hits in the last 27 innings. Parkland and Wilson each accounted for a single hit, while Fountain Hill went down without a safety, as Steele registered his only no-hitter of the season in the next to last game on the agenda. Many of, in fact most of, the runs scored against Steele during the past campaign were of the unearned variety.

Although Ray had trouble with his control during the early portion of the campaign, he came back strong in this department in the last two games, when the balky weatherman blessed the area with some almost warm weather. Ray walked one Fountain Hill batter, the only member of the rival club to reach first base, and then gave up five free tickets to first in the Wilson Borough battle. Ray has proven in the last two campaigns that he thrives on warm weather.

Steele's one-hit job against Wilson Borough was witnessed by two more major league scouts, one being from the Giants. There hasn't, to my knowledge, been a game this season, in which Steele has worked, that at least one ivory hunter hasn't been on hand to take notes on the big guy. In several contests even the umpires were taking mental notes on the East Stroudsburg fastballer, to forward to major league clubs which requested the needed material.

Ray announced officially yesterday that he would pitch for the Bushkill entry in the Pocono Mountains League this summer, after campaigning with the Pocono A. C. club in the Blue Mountain League last season. Ray had been undecided as to which team to toss for this year, but finally reached an agreement with himself yesterday. There's little that can be said about the choice, except that Bushkill's gain is certainly a terrific loss for Pocono A. C. However, I have a hunch that the big right-hander will be in the professional ranks before the month of June passes into history.

Several of the scouts, I believe, will figuratively be waiting outside the East Stroudsburg High school auditorium door on graduation night, in an effort to be first in line to offer Ray a chance to sign on the dotted line. Ray and his father have been strictly "mum" on the professional diamond picture, but this column believes that the serious thinking has narrowed down to three major league clubs, with a college education figuring very strongly in the picture. The kid has the goods to make a terrific success out of a professional baseball career and he can afford to be careful of his selection.

All this praise and notice hasn't just rolled up to Steele—not by a long shot. The young pitcher has practice hard and long for this chance and has taken seriously the advice of such solid baseball men as "Rick" DePue, Jack Kist, John Schoonover and Ray's father. Here's one youngster that took his baseball seriously and it appears as if the game is about ready to pay Ray off for his long hours of work and serious attitude on the baseball diamond. This writer is only one of many who is certain that it couldn't happen to a nicer guy.

Fegley Tosses One-Hitter At IAM Nine

Eagles and Ronson came up with victories in the Monroe County Softball League yesterday, the former winning over IAM, 13-0, on the East Stroudsburg Junior High field, while Ronson outlasted Tru-Matic at Stroudsburg Playground, 19-15.

Gail Fegley tossed a one hitter at the IAM contingent, while the veteran hurler's supporting cast blasted out 11 to support him in royal fashion.

The outcome of the contest was never in doubt as the Eagles came up with four runs in the second, three in the third, one in the fifth and closed shop for the day with five tallies in the seventh.

In addition to tossing a one-hit contest, Fegley fanned five, walked two and banged out a home run. Vince Boushell accounted for the lone IAM safety, an infield hit in the seventh.

Tru-Matic made a late rush at Stroudsburg Playground, but Ronson's early 10-0 advantage held water in face of the rally.

The losing aggregation scored all 15 runs in the last four trips to the plate.

Two games previously rained out will be played today, both beginning at 6:15 p.m. Union Printers and Tucker's Chevrolet will clash at the East Stroudsburg Junior High field, while Worthington Mower and Kulp's Foundry tangle at the Stroudsburg Playground, in a playoff of Wednesday's tie contest.

Collins Wins Decision

Boston (AP) — Tommy Collins, the Boston stripling, uncovered a rapier-like left in ample time to carve up Fabela Chavez, stylish Los Angeles featherweight, for a technical knockout decision in 1:15 of the tenth and final round of their feature boxing bout last night at the Boston Garden. Collins weighed 129¼, a pound more than the Mexican-born Californian.

Three County League Games To Be Played

Three games are on tap for the Monroe County League today, as the circuit enjoys its final big day of the present campaign. Two of today's encounters are listed for 2:30 p. m., while one of the three contests is slated to start one hour later.

Tobyhanna Township High needs only a victory to insure itself of the Monroe County League title, to go with the basketball crown that the charges of Coach Carl Majer have won the past three years. This is the contest that gets underway at 3:30. TTHS has four wins and no defeats, while Barrett has one win and two defeats.

Pitchers

Merlyn May will do the pitching for TTHS, while Roan will probably receive the starting nod from Coach Ed Kriner to do the Barrett hurling.

Chestnuthill, with three victories and one setback, must win over Pocono High today to stand any chance of winning the title. This contest is to be played at Tannersville, at 2:30 p. m. A win for Pocono and a loss for TTHS will also keep the Harry Werkheiser coached contingent in the race, as the club at the present time has two wins and a single setback.

Last, but not least, on today's agenda is the game at Kresgeville, featuring Polk and Coolbaugh, at 2:30 p. m. Polk has lost all four games thus far this season, while Coolbaugh has a single win to go with three setbacks.

The final game of the season will be played between Pocono and Barrett next Tuesday, at Barrett. This game will begin at 3:30 p. m.

Dewey Signs Spivey Papers

Albany, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Dewey signed extradition papers yesterday requesting the return of basketball player William Spivey from Kentucky to face perjury charges in New York City in connection with "fixed" games.

Center

Spivey played center for the University of Kentucky court team during the 1950-51 season.

He was indicted on a charge of first-degree perjury by a New York County Grand Jury on April 24.

Dewey signed the requisition for extradition at the request of Manhattan's District Attorney, Frank S. Hogan. Hogan has exposed a series of basketball scandals in the last year concerning fixed games and "point shaving."

Bratton Meets Flanagan Today

New York (AP)—Johnny Bratton, Chicago's hot and cold welterweight contender, takes on Del Flannagan, another erratic boxer of late, in a 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Of his impressive four-round knockout of France's Pierre Langlois three weeks ago, Bratton has been made a two to one favorite to outslice Dancing Del of St. Paul.

The bout, starting at 10 p.m. EDT will be telecast (NBC) and broadcast (ABC).

Simmons Notches Third Win By Blanking Pittsburgh, 6-0

PHILADELPHIA, (AP)—Curt Simmons, Philadelphia Phillies' sensational lefthander, yesterday won his second consecutive shutout victory by defeating Pittsburgh 6 to 0 on three hits and belted an inside the park home run to augment his effort.

Simmons struck out eight Pirates, walked five, and was never in danger of even being scored upon. It was the lefthander's third win against one defeat.

The hapless cellar-dwellers of the National League, with George Munger pitching were snowed from the outset. However, with perfect support, Munger could have battled Simmons almost on equal terms.

The run that Granny Hamner scored in the first inning was possible because George Strickland mishandled a double play ball. When Richie Ashburn came home in the fifth, it was a result of stealing third base with the Pirate defenders watching like bystanders.

Kennedy Hurls Four-Hitter As Giants Blank Cardinals

New York, (AP)—Monte Kennedy, second line New York hurler, won himself a regular starting turn yesterday by pitching the Giants to a 6-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Kennedy yielded only four singles while his teammates routed Redbird ace Gerry Staley and two aldes with an 11-hit attack that included a home run by Davey Williams and triples by Alvin Dark, Willie Mays and Don Mueller.

Rubber Game

The victory gave the Giants the rubber of the three-game series with the Cards but it left them still in second place, a half game behind the Brooklyn Dodgers, who nipped the Cincinnati Reds, 8-7.

Dark had a pair of singles besides his three-bagger. He drove in two runs and scored one. Mays, Mueller and "Whitey" Lockman each had two hits.

Williams homered off reliefer Bill Werle in the seventh. The Giants' final two runs came off Dick Bokelmann in the eighth.

Dodgers Rally To Decision Cincinnati, 8-7

Brooklyn (AP)—Brooklyn's league-leading Dodgers snatched a game out of the fire yesterday, rallying for four runs in the eighth inning to overcome a three-run deficit and the Cincinnati Reds, 8-7. The triumph enabled the Dodgers to maintain their half-game edge over the New York Giants.

Roy Campanella, returning to the lineup after missing three games because of a swollen hand, struck the big blow for the Dodgers, a game-tying home run following singles by "Pee Wee" Reese and Jackie Robinson in the eighth inning.

Loser

Starter Frank Hiller was the victim of this blow but Frank Smith came on to lose the game. Andy Pafko smacked Smith's first pitch into left field and by daring base running, made it a double. "Duke" Snider sacrificed and Gil Hodges drove in the winning run with a fly to Bob Borkowski in left field.

Joe Black, Negro rookie right-hander and fourth Brooklyn pitcher, was the winner. Clem Labine started for Brooklyn and gave up four runs in the third on one terrific blast, a grand slam homer by Joe Adcock into the centerfield bleachers.

Amateur Ties For Tournament Lead

Ft. Worth, Tex. (AP) — Joe Conrad, 20, Texas amateur champion, came in with the shadows yesterday to register a two under par 68 and tie professional Raymond Gafford of Dallas for the first round lead in the Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament.

It was the first time that an amateur ever topped the field in this tournament.

Early Finish

Gafford had finished early and his lead appeared destined to stand up, but Conrad, the North Texas State College golfer from San Antonio romped in with a two under par 33 on the first nine and equal led par 35 on the second nine.

Doug Ford of Harrison, N. Y., was next with a 69, while tied for the next spot were Tommy Bolt of Durham, N. C., and Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., each with a 70.

Braves, Cubs Split Verdicts

Boston, (AP)—After Bob Rush cut down the Boston Braves with a four-hit pitching performance to give the Chicago Cubs a 3-0 triumph, the Tribesmen, Sam Jethroe and Bob Thorpe especially, rebounded to provide lefty Warren Spahn with a 5-0 shutout in the last half of yesterday's doubleheader.

The burly Rush never was in danger. He also contributed to the Cubs' offense, collecting two of the nine hits against Vern Bickford and driving in the first Chicago run in the second inning.

Scoring

Bill Serena's triple scored "Hank" Sauer in the third frame and singles by Serena and Toby Atwell, plus Hal Jeffcoat's fly, ended the Chicago scoring in the eighth.

Spahn's duel with the righthanded Johnny Klippstein was decided in the opening frame, when two runs were chalked up on Roy Hartsfield's single, Ed Mathews' double, a wild pitch and Sid Gordon's fly to right field.

Jethroe homered for the fourth time this season after Hartsfield singled with two out in the seventh and rookie Thorpe's four-bagger came with two down in the eighth.

Joint Board Okays Budget For $100,807

Newfoundland— Directors of the Greene-Dreher-Sterling joint board of education have approved a budget authorizing expenditures of $100,807 for the 1952-53 school year.

Meeting this week the board received approval of its tentative plan from the county board and the office of the county superintendent before final adoption of the budget, the largest in the school's history.

Major item of the proposed expenditure is that set aside for instructional service, $63,625. Auxiliary agencies and coordinate activities, which includes the cost of transporting pupils from the three districts, will require an outlay of $19,101 while operation of the plant will cost $6,360, maintenance of the plant, $5,800, fixed charges, $3,900 and items of general control, $2,021.

Districts of the jointure will contribute to the estimated receipts as follows: Greene Towdnship, $14,116; Dreher Township, $29,995; Sterling, $29,287.

Other sources of revenue of the joint district are from state appropriation for vocational agriculture, $2,945; tuition from non-resident pupils, $3,384 and rent from various veterans' agriculture instruction, $1,080.

Payment of state appropriations based on instructional units is made direct to the individual districts. These will amount to approximately 44% of Greene Township's contribution to the jointure; 58% of Dreher's and 75% of Sterling's.

Remainder of the individual districts' obligations to the jointure must be raised by local taxation. Greene Township has announced a tax rate of 23 mills while Dreher has levied 28 mills and Sterling Township 35 mills.

Among other items of business carried on at the meeting was the election of treasurer of both the joint and individual ditsricts and the announcement of two changes in the faculty for the coming year.

S. Elmore Haag was reelected to the treasurer's post for both the Greene-Dreher-Sterling board and the Dreher Township group. Lawrence Grimm was renamed as treasurer for the Greene township district while Louis Altemier succeeds Harold Lee as treasurer for Sterling. All elections become effective July 1.

Carroll Fetherman, vocational agriculture supervisor here for the past 14 years, has resigned effective July 1 due to ill health and will be replaced by Clayton Northrup, Dalton. Northrup taught here two years ago when Fetherman was granted a one-year sabbatical leave.

John Strupcinsky, Duryea, has been placed under contract to replace Harold Wilde as music supervisor. Wild resigned recently to accept a position as director of instrumental music in the Millersville, Pa., schools. Strupcinsky is a graduate of the Mansfield State Teachers College.

The board also directed that advertisement be made for bids for coal and accepted the bid of a Harrisburg firm for school supplies. Bids on approximately $2,000 worth of school furniture were held over until the next meeting, pending the arrival of specimen pieces.

A class of 30 candidates for graduation was approved, pending satisfactory completion of the current term.

Guidance Program Outlined

At a meeting this week, parents of kindergarten pupils at Ramsey and Morey school heard a school psychologist outline an elementary guidance program for their children.

The psychologist, Miss H. Eloise Bryan, outlined the program which, she said, begins with the end of kindergarten and continues through the school training.

Reasons for beginning the psychological guidance early, Miss Bryan pointed out, include the child's ability to change his behavior patterns at such an early age.

The problems, Miss Bryan said, may therefore be handled more easily.

Between 50 and 60 parents were in attendance.

V. F. W. Poppy Days - Friday and Saturday, May 23rd and 24th

BUDDY POPPIES SYMBOL OF A NATION'S DEVOTION

Emblem of the dead and dying on the fields of Flanders in 1918, the V.F.W. Buddy Poppy has been glorified by the American people as their "Flower of Remembrance."

Down through the years, ever since 1922 to be exact, the V.F.W. Buddy Poppy has given to all patriotic citizens—rich and poor alike—their chance to honor the dead by helping the living.

The annual sale of Buddy Poppies serves two great purposes. It fosters the beautiful custom of wearing these little flowers, once each year, in mute salute to the memory of America's honored dead; it provides the funds that are required to serve the daily personal needs of the nation's disabled and needy veterans, and their dependents.

There are millions of unfortunate veterans—as well as widows and orphans and dependent parents—who are unable to qualify for government aid.

Why? Mainly because the government itself—in time of war—has never been able to maintain accurate records on the physical welfare of each individual in uniform.

Through no fault of their own, these veterans—many of them the victims of the lingering effects of exposure, shock and malnutrition—are unable to qualify for help from their government because their service records fail to confirm the origin of their ailments.

Your support of the annual sale of Buddy Poppies makes it possible for the Veterans of Foreign Wars to maintain its great, nationwide program of free rehabilitation service to the millions of needy veterans.

Every dime or dollar which you may give in exchange for a Buddy Poppy goes into a special sacred fund—one that will be spent for nothing but the relief and rehabilitation of America's disabled veterans, and their needy loved ones.

Remember the dead who are buried near the battlefields where they died, or in our cemeteries here at home. Let's do them honor by helping the living!

For the aid, relief and comfort of disabled and needy veterans, their dependents, or their widows and orphans.

For hospital entertainment, for needy veterans and service patients.

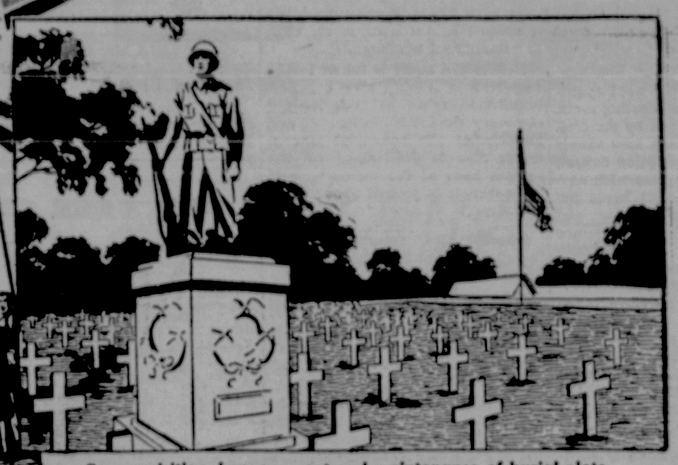

For rehabilitation, welfare and service work, including liaison service with the Veterans Administration.

For maintenance or expansion of the V.F.W. National Home for widows and orphans of veterans at Eaton Rapids, Mich.

For necessary expenses for military funerals of deceased veterans.

For acquisition, improvement and maintenance of burial plots and the decoration of graves of veterans and servicemen.

Burnett Explains Process Used To Finish Memorials

The twenty-fifth of a series of articles dealing with industrial operations in Monroe County is presented today by The Daily Record. Aim of the series is to acquaint all citizens with what is produced here; how it is made, the type of people and skills engaged in such production and the economic impact of each industry on this region.

By James B. Gaffney

Now under new ownership, Stroudsburg Granite Co. at Main and Dreher Ave. in Stroudsburg is credited with erecting over a quarter million dollars in memorials in Monroe County and vicinity.

The present owner, Truman T. Burnett and his wife assumed control of the business April 1, succeeding Gumaer Benedict who founded the company in 1937.

Burnett managed a large retail memorial concern in Philadelphia and is a memorial craftsman by trade. Only 38 years old, he already has a wealth of experience and intends to apply his know-how to further business here.

About 45 cemeteries in the immediate area are supplied by this memorial firm but Burnett made it known that he ships anywhere in the United States on a cooperative plan in effect by mutual consent of each dealer in the states.

Burnett does not make the memorials here. He applies the finishing touches and does the erecting. The stone is quarried in Canada, Minnesota and mainly, Vermont, then shipped here. Truckloads vary from 10 to 15 stones and come in marble and granite. Bronze plates also are shipped here from Ohio and New York.

Barre, Vt. is the center of activity for most memorial reaching Stroudsburg Granite Co. After the stones reach Stroudsburg the procedure handled by Burnett requires definite skill, realized only through experience.

First step in inscribing the stone is to make a paper stencil. This is done by using metal letters and numerals; laying out the names and dates specified and tracing that information, using carbon paper.

The alphabet and numbers come in various sizes. Also in stock are complete Jewish and Roman-type letters and numerals.

Once the information is recorded, a special rubber cement is placed on the stone's face and rubber sheet, which is adhesive, covers the entire front of the stone. The letter is place on the rubber sheeting and, using a knife, Burnett cuts the letters from the stencil.

From this phase the next operation enters the sand-blasting room, an all-steel section ten by six feet. Only part of the stone now visible is the outline of inscription desired and by using a long hose with nozzle attachment, Burnett holds the nozzle outside the steel room and applying 90 pounds air pressure from a generator, he actually shoots small particles directly at the stone to cut the inscription.

Carborundum, an abrasive, is the material shot from the hose at a right angle to the stone in a circular motion. Burnett explained the aim must be at a direct angle or the abrasive will cut into the stone degree and give a bad effect to the appearance of the letters.

Dust from the abrasive is gathered in large containers so there is no danger that homes in the area will be affected by the settlement.

Burnett wears heavy rubber gloves and goggles when operating the sand-blasting machine, to protect himself against flying abrasive. His experience pays dividends in this operation since he must depend largely on his knowledge to know when the lettering has penetrated deep enough, usually about five-sixteenths of an inch.

Taking the stone from the blasting room, the rubber adhesive is removed, stone cleaned and ready for erection at the cemetery.

All equipment at the plant is modern, with electrically operated devices and movable cranes utilized to transport the heavy stones from one stage of operation to another, also loading the memorial on the truck.

A hydraulic truck crane also is used in the cemetery to unload the memorial, allowing one man to do the work of three or more, with less danger of breakage.

Before the stone is taken to the cemetery a rock and concrete foundation must be laid. At the cemetery the lot is blocked off and location of the memorial is centered. Size is determined by the bottom base of the memorial and the concrete is poured about three feet deep.

Burnett also returns to the the cemetery to inscribe names or dates and to reset or clean memorials. He has a portable blasting machine or can hand-chisel the desired inscriptions at the lot. He also uses an air or hand chisel to cut away the stone in making raised letters.

Markers are sold according to size and type. Granite is more expensive than marble, Burnett said, and you can buy a suitable marker for about $50 complete, including foundation and inscription. He also is qualified to duplicate any memorial the order calls for.

Frank Decker, who has been with the firm 15 years, assists Burnett in erecting the stones.

Smallest memorial would be about 14 inches wide and weigh 150 pounds, Burnett said. A four foot memorial would weigh about 2,000 pounds. Largest memorial ever erected by Burnett was in the private cemetery of the Du-Pont family in Delaware. This stone weighed about four tons and was a box ledger tomb-type.

An interesting operation, Burnett has extended an invitation for anyone to visit his plant. New to the community, he is anxious to make friends and hopes to promote his business enterprise.

Before you buy a tractor, find out why more farmers buy FARMALLS than any other make

Get all the facts. See the important differences. Here, for instance, are a few of the extra values you get in the 2-plow, 2-row McCormick* Farmall* C:

1 Tricycle design for pin-point turning and for all-around convenience in row-crop work.

2 Forward mounting of planters and cultivators, so you can watch them work while you face comfortably ahead.

3 Ample crop clearance under both tractor and cultivator.

4 Easy wheel-tread changes. Simply slide the rear wheels on the axle. No wrestling heavy wheels from one side to the other.

5 Full hydraulic control. Farmall Touch-Control lifts and lowers tractor-mounted implements, of course. It also exerts positive downward pressure to assure the working depth you choose. Gives you selective control of left and right gangs, too, or delayed lift of rear gangs.

6 Sure traction. Weight distribution is right, to give top-notch performance on drawbar jobs as well as with mounted implements.

7 All-day comfort. You ride up out of the dust zone, away from engine heat. You get a smooth ride in the wide, upholstered seat with its spring mounting and hydraulic shock absorber.

It's easy to buy a Farmall C. With the Income Purchase Plan you can pay for it while it earns money for you. Ask us to show you—right in your own fields—what a Farmall can do for you.

Greene-Dreher Directors Map Plans For Fair

Newfoundland—Planning for the 36th annual Greeee-Dreher Fair was begun at a meeting of the association in the local school Tuesday night.

Northeastern Pennsylvania's oldest community fair will be held here Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, August 21-22-23.

Proposed move of the fair midway to the rear portion of the association-owned land was discussed. The change would allow for the erection of permanent type structures and would free a large area for parking, an annual problem during the three-day event.

A committee was appointed by Richard McLain, president of the association, to meet with similar groups representing the local American Legion post and the Greene-Dreher Volunteer Fire Association, who also use the grounds, for the purpose of discussing the possibility of making the change this year.

Fred McLain, newly-appointed grounds superintendent, heads this committee. Other members are Charles Smith, Homer Gilpin, W. W. Wilder, and President McLain.

Committee heads and exhibit department superintendents were appointed. The program of events and entertainment features for this year's event were discussed.

Directors of the association will meet in the school on Wednesday, June 4, at 8 p. m. Another meeting of the association is scheduled for July.

Pastor Attends Church Session

Newfoundland—Rev. and Mrs. Harry Roof, of the South Sterling Methodist charge, are attending the 101st annual session of the Wyoming Methodist conference in Scranton this week.

One of the highlights of the conference is a pageant entitled "Journey In Faith," depicting the growth of Methodism in the northeastern Pennsylvania area during the past 100 years. Showing scenes of actual happenings selected from the annals of the conference, the pageant has a cast of 150 with 100 more persons doing work backstage. A Choric speech choir of 30 voices furnishes the musical background.

During Rev. Roof's absence, services will be conducted in the three churches of the charge by Harry Grimm and George Bewley.

Rice is the poorest of all cereals in food value.

Fair Grounds To Undergo First Cleanup

Gilbert — West End Fair officers and directors and other interested persons are requested to report at the fair grounds here Saturday, May 31 for the first of a series of "clean-ups."

An extensive amount of debris has accumulated on the grounds during the months extending from last Fall to this Spring. Officers indicated that a large crew will be needed for this first clean-up.

PTA Dance Set Tonight At Bushkill

Bushkill — Mrs. J. K. Britton was hostess to the junior and senior dance committee when they met at her home on Tuesday night to report progress and make final plans for the affair set for tonight at the Bushkill fire house.

Square and round dancing and cake walks will occupy the major part of the affair. During the 10 p. m. intermission a group of students from the Middle Smithfield School will entertain with tap dancing and gymnastics.

The senior committee will have charge of decorations and will meet at the fire house this afternoon.

The dance is being sponsored by the Bushkill Parent Teachers Association. Refreshments will be on sale and tickets will be available at the door. Tickets may also be obtained from any of the committee members, Sylvia Faucett, Anita Keiper, George Angle, Josh Heller, Warren Eshback, Joan Dowling, Katie Riedmiller, Harold Litts, Ruth Minter, Mrs. Albert Schoonover, Mrs. Chester Brish, Mrs. Lawrence Butz, Mrs. Andrew Lewis, Mrs. Cornell Faucett or Mrs. Britton.

Young People To Hold Services

Bushkill—The Christian Endeavor Society of Bushkill Dutch Reformed Church will hold a candlelight service on Sunday at 7:30 p. m.

George Angle, president of the society, will lead in reciting of the Apostle's Creed and will read the Scripture lesson. Prayers will be offered "For Our Country" by Mary Ann Howey; "For All Christians," by Sara Mae Messerle; "For the Church", by Bertie Howey. Richard Keiper and Sara Mae Messerle will sing a duet. Ushers for the service will be Richard Keiper and Peter Howey.

County Farmers Invited To Attend Grassland Field Day

Monroe County farmers have been invited to join other Northeastern Pennsylvania farmers at the Grassland Field Day June 3 at Sordoni Sterling Farms, Harveys Lake.

Invitation was extended through County Agent Arthur Ifft by J. D. Hutchison, Luzerne County agent and general chairman of the committee in charge. All county agents in the region are participating in formation of the program.

Gov. John S. Fine, a Luzerne County resident, will be guest of the host farmer, his cabinet member, State Secretary of Commerce Andrew J. Sordoni. Several other cabinet members are expected to attend.

Pennsylvania State College will be represented by a number of administrators and staff members of the Agriculture extension service and Agricultural Experiment station.

These two schools of Agriculture units at the College are sponsoring this and four other district field days, in cooperation with host farmers and other interested organizations and individuals, to spur added interest in better farm forages.

Visitors to the Northeast field day not only will see a day-long program of multiple demonstrations and exhibits dealing with improved grasses and legumes, and their efficient production and use, but also outstanding features on the Sordoni Farm, a showplace in itself.

An excellent dairy herd, glass barn to house the animals, glass-lined silo to be filled on field day with grass silage, board-fenced pasture paddocks and an unbroken expanse of 900 acres in grass and added attractions supplied by the host farm, one of the outstanding grassland operations in Northeastern United States.

Chairman Hutchison and county agents and home economics extension representatives of fourteen participating counties, including Monroe County, are in charge of the field day program for both farmers and homemakers.

Driven by the winds, turned by the spinning earth, the water of the North Atlantic slowly revolves always clockwies as viewed from above.

Job Seekers Over 45 Have Difficulty Finding Work

By James B. Gaffney

Men and women over 45 are experiencing difficulty finding positions in Monroe County.

Jack Muschock, manager of the East Stroudsburg office of the Pennsylvania State Employment Service will relate this information today at a conference in Philadelphia.

James B. Gaffney

Forty percent of approximately 400 job seekers in the county are over 45 years of age, Muschock's report discloses. And this group has accounted for only 12.8 percent of placements made by the PSES during the past six months.

Muschock is attending a conference arranged by Temple University and the Department of Labor and Industry of the state. The two-day session closes tonight.

"The Problem of Making a Living While Growing Old" is the parley theme. Noted civil and industrial leaders headed the discussions on such topics as "Should There be a Fixed Retirement Age?" "What Industrial Employment Practices Promote Employment for Older Workers," and other phases involved in utilizing the abilities of a larger portion of the nation's labor force.

J. Paul Hart, manager of the Citizens Gas Co. and Bangor and Pen Argyl Gas Companies, represented this area at a state conference arranged by the Pennsylvania Gas Assn. at Wernersville.

Modern techniques in application of gas; new line of equipment and up-to-date appliances were among the many items considered at the meeting.

You can forget plans to shop in Stroudsburg Thursday nights, for some time—at least.

That's the statement Burton George, president of the Stroudsburg Merchants Assn. issued when quizzed about the program which has been under contemplation for several weeks.

The survey of merchants apparently has shown Saturday shopping is preferred. Thursday night opening was under consideration for one major reason—to alleviate the parking problem now in existence. Businessmen hope they can lick this nemisis before long by instituting an off-the-street parking program. Search for available space still continues.

Home Life Insurance Co. of America, from its office in Philadelphia, has announced the appointment of Samuel J. Coco as their agent in this section.

Coco currently is employed as a clerk by A. C. Miller Furniture Store and lives at 405 Clermont Ave., Stroudsburg. A veteran of three years service with the U. S. Air Force in the European Theatre of operations, Coco is a lifelong area resident.

He is a past vice president of the Italian-American Club and now a director of that organization and is affiliated with the Monroe County Federation of Clubs. He also is a member of St. Matthew's Church, East Stroudsburg.

Coco received his insurance licence in August, 1951 and will serve the area from his home. Stroudsburg is in the Easton district, headed by John Cressman, manager with Andrew Pagano as field manager.

A completely modern luncheonette opens this morning at the southern approach to Tannersville.

Ewe's Restaurant, operated by Mr. and Mrs. Hans Ewe, is completey modern in design and equipped with the latest facilities. Ice cream made on the premises will be a feature, with about 15 flavors to select from.

The couple opened their first business in Union City, N. J. in 1937 and moved to larger quarters in Weehawken, N. J. later. In North Bergen, N. J. where they opened a luncheonette their business increased to the point where ten persons were employed when they finally sold and moved to Monroe County.

Summer residents of Effort for the past six years, they recently purchased a home in McMichaels.

When their establishment opens at 11 a.m. today the couple will have the services of three workers. Accommodations seat 44 persons. Daily luncheons will be served and fountain service their specialty.

Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. captured first place for its annual report to stockholders at the Public Utilities Advertising Association's annual meeting in Minneapolis.

Open to all business-managed electric, gas and trolley and bus companies, the award was tops nationally, and in Canada. Along with the award PP and L also gained two third place citations for other publications in the 1952 Better Copy Contest.

How to Keep Refreshing Those Enduring Memories . . .

Although the memory of a loved one who has passed on is ever-enduring, many Record readers make a habit of reviving and refreshing those engraved-on-the-heart thoughts through Daily Record In Memoriam notices. They feel that in addition to bringing them in closer spiritual contact with departed dear ones, a memorial notice also reminds friends and relatives of the deep significance of the memorable day and date.

The Daily Record is cooperating in extending this custom by arranging an appropriate special In Memoriam section to be published Thursday, May 29th. A large and varied selection of suitable verses are now prepared and available at the classified department of the Record. Should you wish to honor the memory of your loved one in this special section, please submit your order not later than Tuesday, May 27th. If it is not convenient for you to visit the office, a Record Ad-Taker will gladly handle all details by telephone.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

FRIDAY, MAY 23, 1952

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Curb impulses, check carefully for facts; rather accomplish a little less, and well, than do many things, few of which under too great pressure would be successful.
April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—If anyone is doing you a favor, show appreciation first, rather than object to or criticize his or her variance with your procedures. We should often avoid criticisms.
May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—In manner, thought, method you can direct this day successful channels or otherwise. So many ways can be the deciding factor; it will be well for you to take stock early.
June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Mind relationships, heed responsibilities, review behavior; these are top advisors this on-and-off sort of day. Don't let little things upset you.
July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—We all have several admonitions. It is time for a check-up, systematizing, or even just a slower-to-be-surer tempo. This whole week suggests rebuilding.
August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—You are in no different category generally than others today. That better ways-and-means diet may be needed. If you have done this recently, then review your situation.
September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Probably fewer restrictions and admonitions than for others this week, and today especially, nonetheless mind you don't fall by association or influence into errors.
October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Wait a minute!
November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Jupiter, and Saturn, only planets auspiciously aspected, indicating fewer obstacles to achievement. But you may have to counteract others' errors.
December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Like Saggittarius today, you may have to carry much of the load for others. But your capability and sense of responsibility should enjoy it.
January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Some things you do not expect may deter you from speed in accomplishing. Pledge your talents to the development of you—your duties, your country.
February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Take time to analyze thoughts and feelings; what are the advantage in present methods and uses? Combine the artistic with the practical.
YOU BORN TODAY: Keen intellectuality, requires careful developing, education; sensitive nature, needs thoughtful direction (control it so it won't border on the touchy and cause you and loved ones distress). Be mindful of the little ways happiness is preserved. Pray for guidance, for better understanding of others. Birthdate of: Jas. Gleason, Herbert Marshall, actors.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your keynumber. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
